WOULD FORTIFY THE PANAMA CANAL

Secretary Taft and Party Will Take Up the Subject.

UNCLE SAM'S RIGHT

Government Will Assume Military Control of the Isthmian Waterway.

CONSTRUCTION PROGRESSING

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Fortification of the terminals of the Panama canal is one of the subjects to be considered by Secretary Taft when he makes his visit to the isthmus and for this purpose he will be accompanied by members of the first committee of the Taft fortifications board. This committee consists of Maj.-Gen. J. F. Storey, former chief of artillery, retired; Brig.-Gens. Alexander McKenzie, W. M. Crozier, Samuel M. Mills, Capt. Charles S. Sperry and Maj. George W. Goethals. Not all the members of this committee will accompany the secretary, and unless definite orders are issued it is probable that Gen. Storey and Maj. Goethals will be the members who go to Panama.

Fortification of the canal was forbidden by the first Hay-Pauncefote treaty, but this treaty was amended so much by the senate that Great Britain rejected it. The canal treaty which was finally adopted and is now in force and which superseded the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, makes no mention of fortifications but does allow the United States to use such military force as may be necessary to police and protect the canal.

Government Can Erect Guns.

As nothing is said regarding fortifications this government assumes the right to erect such works as will adequately protect the canal. It is not expected that the present investigation will result in more than a preliminary report upon the conditions at each terminal of the canal.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Members of the Isthmian canal commission and the board of consulting engineers returning from a tour of inspection of the Panama canal arrived here today from Colon.

Gen. George W. Davis, chairman of the consulting engineers, said that although the party had made a careful inspection of the proposed route of the canal no decision had been reached as to the sea level plan. He said that the board might report its opinion on the best kind of canal in two or three weeks.

Theodore P. Shonts, chairman of the commission, said the reason for the revocation of the contract which had been awarded to J. E. Markel of Chicago for the feeding of the canal employes was that the commission had decided to feed the men with its own equipment. The Markel contract was absolved by mutual consent, he said.

Good Report on Health.

Mr. Shonts added that the commission would ask for new bids on a feeding contract if it were found inexpedient for the government itself to feed the canal employes. At present, he said, the commission was losing money on its attempt to run two hotels, and seven mess houses and to feed between two and three thousand persons.

"As to the health of the isthmus, I have a good report to make," said Mr. Shonts. "We have 4,000 men at work on sanitation. In June there were 62 cases of fever, in July, 42 cases; in August, 27, and in September, six cases, and so far there have been none in October. At the Ancon hospital at Panama, there were 239 patients the day before I left and this is a very low sick list. The average in the hospitals has been 500 a month.

"There are at present 2,600 men at work in the Culebra cut. They are now engaged in shaping up the sides of the cut and have 16 steam shovels at work. The new French company did some work there which we wish they had left undone."

FIRE ON A BRITISH TORPEDO BOAT DESTROYER

Bullets form the Moors' Guns Pierced the Funnel of a War Vessel.

ENGLISH OFFICERS RELEASED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

GIBRALTAR, Oct. 17.—The British torpedo boat destroyer Cherwell reports that yesterday evening while anchored between Ceuta and Ceres she was fired at by Moors, whose bullets pierced her funnel. The Cherwell threw her searchlight on the assailants. There were no casualties.

MADRID, Oct. 17.—Fearing an attack by a British torpedo boat the Moorish bandits of the Anjera tribe released the two British officers, who have arrived at Ceuta. The officers captured were Capt. John E. Browther and Lieut. Edward A. S. Hatton of the Royal Marines. They had an escort of 21 Riff tribesmen and were attacked by half a dozen Anjeras under a brother of Vallente, the brigand chief who was recently arrested at Tangier. The Riffs fled and the two officers were overpowered. The same band lately assassinated the governor of Ceuta and his son.

The minister of foreign affairs of Morocco, Mohammed El Torres, had dispatched couriers to ascertain the whereabouts of the captured officers and open negotiations with their captors whose object was to secure a ransom and the release of Vallente, who is now imprisoned at Fez.

Gates has named Charles Guthrie, one of the directors who is in accord with his ideas, for the position.

PREPARING FOR TROUBLE WITH THE VENEZUELANS

CHERBOURG, Oct. 17.—Active work is going on here in preparing reserve vessels for service in case of eventualities in Venezuela. The arsenal and the artillery departments also are working at full pressure. The cruiser Desaix, which left here yesterday, took large stores of ammunition for Fort de France, island of Martinique.

SETTLES RIGHT OF AMERICANS TO FISH

GLOUCESTER, MASS., Oct. 17.—Local feeling over the Newfoundland herring fisheries was relieved tonight by a telegram from Benjamin A. Smith, who has been in Washington conferring with the state department. The telegram stated that American registered vessels have the right to fish on the treaty cost of Newfoundland, provided the owner, master and [illegible] are Americans.

RUSSIAN STRIKERS IN FIGHT WITH SOLDIERS

Many Persons Are Wounded in the Streets of St. Petersburg.

LABOR TROUBLES SPREADING

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 17.—The workmen in the Nevsky works on the Schlusselburg road, dissatisfied with the exclusion of the working classes from the Douma, struck today and forced the men in the Pahl cotton mill and other concerns to join them. The strikers attacked a street car and injured one woman. A regiment of Cossacks and sappers and infantry were called and were fired on by the strikers and stoned. The troops had been instructed not to fire on the strikers and they retired after firing in the air. A Cossack officer and two Cossacks were wounded, and a horse was killed. Two wagonloads of vodka were taken possession of by the strikers.

In an encounter between the police and striking printers at the government bureau of printing and engraving this afternoon 40 persons were injured. The printers attempted to hold a meeting against the command of Minister of Finance Kokovsoff, who requisitioned police and the strikers were driven from the building.

Work was suspended in the whole industrial quarter along the Neva above the city today because of the strike. The Neva quarter is where the Putiloff iron works, the Russo-American rubber works and other large establishments are situated. They were not affected by today's strike, but meetings will be held to determine whether the men will go out. If the Putiloff workmen join the strike probably will become general. The railway employes are also discussing a strike.

The strike at Moscow has given an impetus to the new wave of strikes and disorders which is sweeping over the country and which promises a repetition of the period of stress that prevailed in January and February last, though it is hoped, on a less serious scale. Besides the tumult in St. Petersburg and Moscow, strikes and disorders inspired by the events in the latter place are reported from Saratoff, Kieff, Kazan, Kharkoff and other cities, while the strike movement has again broken out in Warsaw.

CATCH FISH WITH CLUBS.

Men and Boys Stand at the Mouth of Maple Creek and Make Big Catches.

CHARLEROI, PA., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—For two days the strange spectacle has been witnessed here of big fish being taken from the Monongahela river with no tackle other than a club and the fisherman's hands. Great crowds watch the sport. The fish range from two-pound suckers to monsters weighing nearly 30 pounds.

The low water and deposits of sulphur from the mines that line the banks has driven the fish to seek clearer water. As they come in large numbers to the mouth of Maple creek 25 to 30 men and boys with clubs stand in waiting and dispatch them.

Reusch Collides With Auto.

John Reusch, a carpenter of 1309 Federal street, Allegheny, was knocked down by an automobile last night at Federal street and Stockton avenue and badly bruised. He was taken to the Allegheny General hospital by the occupants of the automobile, who guaranteed a satisfactory settlement with Reusch.

MAYOR WEAVER IS ORDERED FROM THE HEARING

Investigating Committee Refuses to Permit Him in Its Council Room.

TAYLOR SPRINGS SENSATION

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—The special committee of seven of select council, appointed last night to investigate the affairs of the various departments of the city, as conducted by Mayor Weaver and his directors, began taking testimony today. The meeting of the committee was not without its sensations, chief of which was the request to Mayor Weaver and three of his directors to leave the hearing room, and the statement of John B. Taylor, superintendent of police, that David J. Smyth, former director of public safety, had told him not to molest election repeaters.

Mayor Weaver and the City party insist the police are not in politics, while the leaders of the Republican organization claim the policemen are as much in politics now as ever they were.

Excluded the Public.

Unusual precautions had been taken to exclude from councils' finance committee room, where the meeting was held, all persons except a limited number of newspaper men and witnesses. Only one of the latter was admitted to the chamber at a time. All doors and windows were kept closed. The meeting was called for 3 o'clock.

Prior to that time, Mayor Weaver sent a letter by messenger to the committee asking permission for himself and his directors to be present to hear what might take place, and to give the committee such aid as he could. The mayor in his letter said:

I am extremely anxious that every act of

STORY OF THE WIDOW TURNER AND HER LITTLE COLLECTOR

Twelve-Year-Old Girl Is Arrested Because of a Begging Scheme, and Woman She Lives With Admits She Sent Child Out.

Sadie Malloy, a well-dressed girl of 12, was arrested yesterday as a suspicious person. She was collecting money, ostensibly to help her mother. Now it turns out that the woman for whom she collected the money is not her mother, but a Mrs. M. A. Turner, a widow, with whom she lives at 486 Hawkins avenue. The Humane society is investigating the case and it is possible that other arrests may be made.

Several people complained to the police that the girl was begging money, saying she wanted it to lift a debt off her mother's furniture, but that she gave different names and addresses. After questioning her the police turned her over to James S. Bell, superintendent of the Humane society.

Then developments came. After saying that she was Sarah Malloy and lived at 314 Joe street, Knoxville, the girl said she was Lucille Turner. She was taken to the Hawkins avenue house and Mrs. Turner said the girl lived with her and that she had reared her, although she was not her daughter. She admitted that Sadie Malloy collected money and brought it to her, but not to pay for the furniture, as that was free of debt. The girl liked the work, Mrs. Turner remarked. The widow confessed that she told the girl to give a false address, the one at which they formerly lived. Sadie's subscription book contains records of contributions aggregating $72, but Sadie said she had "held out" some money on Mrs. Turner.

The widow was indignant on hearing this, and said Sadie would lie or steal, as proved by the fact of her retaining money collected for her benefactress, and Sadie retorted she thought she had a right to keep some of the proceeds.

To cap the climax the girl was left overnight with Mrs. Turner by Bell, who says he will try to get possession of Sadie. The latter says her father and a 14-year old sister live in Moma, near Lafayette City, and that the father drinks and abuses the sister. Mrs. Turner says Sadie was brought to her by a Seventh Day Adventist preacher five years ago, a 7-year-old girl, and has been with her ever since.

The funny part of the story is that Agent Thompson of the Humane society gave the girl money two weeks ago and his suspicions were not aroused.

DOES NOT BELIEVE IN MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

Marshall Field Says the Problem Is a Fad and Will Die Out in a Short Time.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—"Municipal ownership is a fad, like the silver question was, and we will find that it will drop out of the public mind soon. I predict that within five years we in America shall not hear anything about it."

So declared Marshall Field, Chicago's merchant prince, on his arrival here today on the steamship Kron Prinz Wilhelm, from Bremen and Cherbourg. He arrived with his wife, who was Mrs. Arthur Caton, and whom he married at Westminster abbey last month.

"I certainly don't agree," continued Mr. Field, "with the proposition that municipal ownership would tend to do away with graft. On the other hand, I believe opportunities for corruption would be greatly increased. Besides, a city under public officials could never be operated as a private corporation.

The business of the municipality would fall into untried hands, and what would seem everybody's business would prove to be nobody's business. I certainly know enough about the subject, after the campaign in Chicago on which Mayor Dunne was elected, to know municipal ownership would be a bad thing for us."

CULLOM WOULD ENLARGE POWERS OF PRESIDENT

Illinois Senator Has a Plan for Solving Trade Complications With Other Nations.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Senator Cullom, head of the foreign relations committee of the senate, in discussing the situation brought about by the trade complications with Germany, said today it might be found necessary to enlarge the powers of the President in dealing with foreign nations with whom commercial relations are not satisfactory.

He considers it settled the senate will not approve reciprocity treaties, and, while not specifically advocating a maximum and minimum tariff measure, indicated he favored it.

Senator Aldrich, when in Washington a few days ago, also left a strong impression that he was prepared to adopt the maximum and minimum tariff idea.

BERATES COMMITTEE

Declares It Is Going Beyond the Scope Intended by the Legislature.

MAINTAINS A PRESS AGENT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Testimony in the insurance investigation, which was resumed today after a week's adjournment of the legislative committee, was exciting and only the repeated threats of Senator Armstrong, chairman of the committee, to clear the room prevented violent demonstrations of disapprobation of the witness, who was Richard A. McCurdy, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

As it was there were jeers at several periods. These came when Mr. Hughes, the counsel for the committee, asked questions that Mr. McCurdy was reluctant to answer or evaded, and were made by the crowd that increased with every hearing.

In Mr. McCurdy's testimony a feature entirely new was disclosed, and this was that the Mutual Life Insurance Company employed a literary bureau to send out to the press of the country news matter that was of benefit to the company. This service, Mr. McCurdy explained, was performed by Joseph Howard, Jr. Mr. McCurdy said he paid Mr. Howard $5,000 a year.

During the morning session an attempt was made to obtain from Mr. McCurdy the reason for reducing the dividends on the policies as the business increased and assets piled up. This question was prompted by the large number of letters received from policyholders by the committee.

To all question on this matter, the witness said he was not fortified with the information required; that these were actuarial matters, and, when pressed for his opinion, replied that he refused to enter into any discussion of the question. Mr. McCurdy's demeanor was so insistent and at times defiant that the spectators bent forward to catch every word.

Just Escapes Indictment.

When Mr. McCurdy would not offer the information himself, Mr. Hughes started on another line of inquiry. Later in the day Chairman Armstrong explained that since the information desired by the committee could be obtained by another course, it was agreeable to the committee to let McCurdy place himself in the position he did. Had he, however, been directed to answer, and, knowing the information desired, and then refused, Mr. Armstrong said steps would have been taken to indict him for misdemeanor.

Mr. McCurdy also, during the effort to induce him to answer the questions as to the reduction of dividends, launched forth into a protest as to the manner in which the investigation was being conducted. He said the committee was going beyond the scope intended when it was appointed by the legislature, and that the investigation had assumed the proportions of an inquisition.

He was asked by Senator Armstrong how he would conduct the investigation, and was told that if he had any better method the committee would be glad to know of it. Mr. McCurdy thought that putting a witness under oath made him feel he was on the rack. He said his answers were published in a distorted form that appeared like an attempt to ruin him.

He Grows Factious.

After taking up the questions of the reduction of dividends, Mr. Hughes read a long list of policy numbers with the amounts of the face of the policy, what had been paid in, and the dividends received by the policy holders. Asked what he had to say to these Mr. McCurdy said:

M'CURDY'S TESTIMONY IS JEERED BY THE AUDIENCE

"Figures don't lie, but liars can figure." He then hastily explained he meant that facetiously, and that he would be glad to verify the figures. The only explanation for a specific instance of a reduction of dividends, Mr. McCurdy gave, was that he supposed the policy holder had a reduced rate policy.

The Mutual's legal expenses were taken up and a number of vouchers for the payment of various sums were read. It was brought out that William Barnes, Sr., of Albany had appeared before the committees in Albany last winter and had received $1,000 from the New York Life Insurance Company as well as the same amount from the Mutual Life Insurance Company. Later it was brought out in a letter to Mr. McCurdy from William Barnes, Jr., that Mr. Barnes, Sr., was under an annual retainer to the Mutual Life Insurance Company.

A voucher in 1902 for $10,000, payable to T. H. Bowles, was explained by Mr. McCurdy as part payment in settlement of a suit Mr. Bowles, formerly the general agent in Milwaukee, had brought against the company. It was testified to earlier in this month, that Mr. Bowles had been dismissed by the company for insubordination. Mr. McCurdy said today that insubordination consisted in "throwing mud" and trying to injure the company.

Bowles Is Stirred Up.

Mr. Bowles' letter made a number of charges and submitted a number of records and tables. Later Mr. Bowles agitated a policyholders' crusade against the company, and Mr. McCurdy said the suit was settled to end the agitation, adding that Bowles went with the agitation.

Thomas H. Bowles has not been in business since he severed his connection with the Mutual Life Insurance Company in Milwaukee. Mr. Bowles is visiting in this city, and tonight he said:

"The aspersions cast upon me by the speculations and deduction drawn out by the testimony offered in the insurance investigation are false and I stand ready, at the pleasure of the committee, to go before that body and to give the facts."

The entire testimony of the day was a continual thrust and parry between counsel and the witness, and when adjournment was taken for the day Mr. Hughes had not finished with Mr. McCurdy. The latter will be recalled tomorrow and questioned along the lines of the trust companies and subsidiary organizations of the Mutual Life, and also as to what moneys were made out of the trust companies.

The Retort Courteous.

During the incident concerning the reductions in dividends, Mr. McCurdy proffered the use of his actuary as witness in place of himself. Mr. Hughes said:

"We will have occasion to call your actuary, but you have been in the insurance business for 40 years, and I want to learn what you know about your company. You are its president and receive $150,000 in salary. I want to learn for what you are responsible."

"You are trying to prove me a fool," the witness retorted.

"Without commenting on that which is obvious, let me ask you to tell us, to the best of your ability, some of the lines on which your company is conducted," said Mr. Hughes.

"Let us see what you do to reduce expenses of your company. Do you reduce salaries?" said Mr. Hughes.

"Well, er"——

Here there was great laughter.

"You're entitled to laugh," the witness said. "I have not reduced the salary of the executive officers; they were none too fat, any way."

When Mr. McCurdy was asked what A. C. Fields, superintendent of the supply department of the Mutual, was doing in Albany, he said:

"He was looking after legislation. If legislation was not watched in every state the insurance companies would be legislated and superintended out of business in five years."

Looking After Legislation.

Mr. Hughes then showed to Mr. McCurdy a voucher for the payment of $5,000 to William A. Fricke, formerly insurance commissioner of Wisconsin, and a letter from Charlton T. Lewis, an attorney of Madison, Wis. The letter stated Mr. Fricke would accept a retainer "to see that the interests of the Mutual Life should come to no harm" in that state. Mr. McCurdy approved the voucher, but could not remember the details.

A voucher for a payment in 1903 of $3,100 to S. S. Olds "for professional services in matter of Michigan," one-third of which was to be paid by each of the three big insurance companies, next came up. Mr. McCurdy said:

> Mr. Lewis told me he had spent one winter in educating the minds of the legislators of either Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio with regard to certain legislation affecting the insurance companies. He proceeded to the capital of the state and discovered the residences of political godfathers, the relatives and neighbors of the legislators. It meant journey after journey up and down the state and the inducing of men to go, too, who would expect their expenses and something else.

Then he went to Washington and spent some weeks getting acquainted with the senators and congressmen from that state. He got on a friendly footing with them so that he might speak to them of the damage the legislation would do the insurance business and got letters from them back to the legislators in the state assembly. For this he received $5,000 for his own services and expended the rest traveling and employing men, but not one dollar except for legitimate purposes.

He Paid His Audience.

What did he pay men for?

Well, many of them were laymen and he had to pay them to sit and listen to him. I say this explains the matter and I resent the suggestion that the money was spent in improper ways, but I think it would be improper to publish the names of some of those he employed.

Can you recall at all what legislation you thought it necessary to oppose?

That would not be in my province. If I undertook to run all the departments I would soon run myself under the ground.

Do you recall the attempt last winter to repeal section 54 of the insurance law, under which no motion to force any domestic insurance company to give an accounting could be brought without the consent of the attorney general? said Mr. Hughes. At first Mr. McCurdy said he did not remember such a bill, but finally said he did remember that there was such a bill brought in by State Senator Brackett.

What attitude did you take in the matter?

None that I am aware of.

Did you not pay William Barnes, Sr., of Albany a bill lately?

No. Yes, now I remember he said he had appeared before a committee and argued some question before it. He sent in his bill and I paid it.

Paid Honorariums.

Asked if it was the custom to pay out money as honorarium without rendering services, Mr. McCurdy said: "Well, let's know what the case is and then perhaps I can tell you."

"Well," said Mr. Hughes. "I hand you this, thinking it might be typical." Mr. Hughes then handed witness a letter from William Barnes, Jr., of Albany, who wrote that "Mr. Barnes, Sr.'s honorarium, which had been annually paid by July 1, had not yet been received." The letter further requested a check. It was signed by "William Barnes, Jr., consulting counsel."

Mr. McCurdy read the letter from the stand and said he did not know that William Barnes, Jr., was a lawyer. Mr. Barnes, Sr.'s receipt for $666 66 was attached to the letter. The voucher was indorsed by Vice President Granniss, who wrote on the voucher "If this is the usual time for paying this, do so."

Mr. Hughes said a question had been raised concerning the money paid by the Mutual Life Insurance Company for luncheons for its clerks.

"Yes," said Mr. McCurdy, "the clerks were fed, but the scrub women, elevator men and policemen are not fed by the company. About 600 clerks are fed daily at a cost of 40 cents a head."

"Is there a stock of wines kept in the building?" asked Mr. Hughes.

"I don't believe that," replied Mr. McCurdy.

Eulogizes His Son.

The Bowles letter, extracts from which were read, charged extravagance in the management of the company, neglect of all sound principles in inviting business, that it was consumed with the ambition to write new business, wrote fictitious business, and employed incompetent men because they were relations of high officials.

To the charge in the Bowles letter that President McCurdy provided fat offices for his family, witness replied in a lengthy statement as to how his son, Robert H. McCurdy, became the general manager. He detailed the education his son had received to adapt him to take up the foreign business, and said above all he was loyal to the company. "I know of no other man's son in this city or anywhere else," he continued, "who could have filled that position as the man I appointed to it." Witness "assumed all the Bowles charges were a lie," and especially the charge that a great deal of the company's business had been given away.

Witness' memory could not be refreshed to any policyholders' movement and Mr. Hughes abruptly asked:

"Well, why did you settle Bowles' suit?"

"Well," replied witness, "not to be disrespectful to the committee, I think a farmer is justified in buying a rifle to shoot a skunk, without shooting it at close quarters."

Witness said the suit was settled to get rid of the policyholders' agitation and, at Mr. Hughes' suggestion, witness said the agitation went with Bowles.

The compensation of the foreign agency was then taken up. Mr. McCurdy would only say that he did the best he could under the circumstances in fixing his son's salary.

THE GOVERNOR WILL MAKE A SPEECH

Pennypacker Is to Address a Republican Rally in Allegheny on Night of Nov. 4.

STATEMENT BY JAMES EVANS

Gov. S. W. Pennypacker will make one speech in Allegheny county during this campaign. Yesterday he consented to address the mass meeting to be held in the Allegheny Carnegie Music hall on the night of November 4. There will be several other prominent speakers.

Allegheny Republican headquarters had an auspicious opening last night. Workers from all the 15 wards were present. There was no brass band, nor any red fire, but the numbers that came out to give the fall political season its start bespeaks the interest that is being taken by Republican workers and voters.

Judge Elliott Rodgers is in charge of the headquarters, and presided at a meeting of the First and Second Ward city and county committeemen. Mr. Rodgers talked on organization, and urged the party men to pay attention to every precinct, so that the Republican majority in the November election will be of a size to discourage further efforts to scuttle the party ship.

Similar talks will be given during the week to the committeemen in every ward. The Third, Fourth and Eighth wards meet tonight; the Fifth, Sixth, Ninth and Eleventh on Thursday, and on Friday and Saturday nights the Seventh, Tenth, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth wards.

Candidates Were There.

Among the visitors at headquarters last night were C. B. Price, candidate for county commissioner; George Z. Hosack, candidate for county treasurer; William Dodds, candidate for clerk of courts, and John A. Fairman, candidate for county recorder. Maj. Horatio Kelsey Tyler, who celebrated his return to the party last Saturday night by leading the Allegheny war veterans to Old City hall, was in headquarters for the first time in two years. The major has made peace with those with whom he was dissatisfied, and says he is back in the fold to stay.

The city machine is trying to drive lodging housekeepers in the lower wards into line for the fusion ticket. Yesterday Murray G. Livingston, chief ordinance officer, and Frank Lorenzo, tenement house inspector, were busy in the First ward.

The officials visited the Wabash hotel at Ferry street and First avenue, kept by Thomas O'Hara. They demanded to see his register and examined him concerning the number of people who stop at his place. The building was inspected and then they wanted to know whether he had a lodging housekeeper's license. He explained that he kept a hotel and did not need a license.

Lorenzo Very Busy.

They then went to Ferry and Water streets, where Mrs. Thomas O'Hara has a lodging house. She was asked many questions. Lorenzo was not satisfied with the five escapes and thought it might be necessary to condemn the whole building. Mrs. O'Hara was asked why she had not taken out a license, and she showed that over a year ago a license had been applied for, but the public safety department had not paid any attention to the application. The machine was not looking for votes then and was not particular whether the law was being complied with.

O'Hara is a friend of Alderman S. J. Toole and consequently has never been for the Citizens ticket.

"The officials did not ask me to vote for the Citizens or urge the guests at my hotel to support the ticket," said O'Hara. "I expect the men back in a few days. The same game was worked last year by another official. He first tried to scare me into working for the machine and then offered to buy me. He was not successful in either attempt."

The other day some young men friendly to Alderman Toole went to "Buck" Wallace to secure a permit to hold a ball in Turner hall. The superintendent inquired what they intended to do in the fall election. One replied:

How "Buck" Works It.

"You know we are for the 'Squire.' This settled the matter and "Buck" did not issue the permit. The machine has never been able to carry the First ward and 'Squire Toole laughs at their efforts this time.

Five out of 12 members of the executive committee of the Municipal league held a meeting yesterday to decide whether the league would join hands with the Orphans, Lincolns and the Independent Democrats in the county fight in behalf of the Republican candidates. The meeting was held in the offices of W. K. Jennings and there were present Mr. Jennings, John Eaton, Oliver McClintock, W. H. Stevenson and T. J. Gillespie. Mr. Eaton was opposed to the league joining with the other reform bodies and while the action was not unanimous, it was decided the league as an organization would not participate. This resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, That the Municipal league does not consider its advisable to take any part as an organization in the present county election, preferring to withhold its influence until the coming municipal contest."

This will not prevent many members of the league as individuals joining with the other three bodies in the county campaign. The Orphans central committee last night clothed its representatives with full power to act at today's conference.

Statement from Evans.

Commissioner James Evans yesterday made this statement concerning the political situation:

> I have been a Republican for many years and was convinced shortly after the election of 1902 that the professions of reform of the leaders of the Citizens party had not been made in good faith. I declined to identify myself longer with the party, and have since acted with the Republican party. I am satisfied that the nomination of the present Republican ticket was fairly made and free from undue influence and should command the hearty support of all good citizens.
>
> I know many of the candidates personally and others by reputation, and believe them to be men of high character. The work of the commissioners' office has been especially interesting to me and I have been highly pleased with Mr. Price's course in the office. His large business experience and strict integrity are qualifications of prime importance in the office. I am satisfied that if the taxpayers fully realized the importance of the office and the wide scope of its expenditures only business men of the highest character would be voted for.
>
> Although not personally acquainted with Mr. Campbell, the other Republican candidate for county commissioner, until recently inquiry has assured me that his qualifications for the office are second to none.

Old City Hall Meeting.

While I did not intend to take any part in public meetings in this campaign there seems to be unjust aspersions in certain newspapers with reference to Saturday night's meeting at Old City hall. My appearance at that meeting was wholly at the request of my fellow commissioner, Mr. Price, and on account of my deep personal interest in his canvass. I agreed with him to attend and act as a vice president, but it was distinctly understood that I was not to be called on to speak. I did not even know that the public expected me to speak until I read Monday's papers.

In conclusion I wish to refer to the institution of some papers that I left the Citizens party on account of its failure to nominate my brother, Dr. Evans, for mayor. The facts are that I was earnestly opposed to him being a candidate, and on several occasions endeavored to induce him to decline. Two nights before the nomination was made I called on George T. Oliver and stated my reasons for my action and solicited him to use his influence with the doctor to the same end. He afterward told me that he had done all that he could in the direction of urging the doctor to take my advice. My brother's failure to receive the nomination in no way whatever influenced me to leave the party.

Republican Mass Meetings.

These Republican meetings will be held this evening: Sunny Side school house, Forward township, William Dodds, Capt. John A. Reed, Charles B. Price and John F. Cox, speakers; Sharpsburg, Robert E. Stone and other candidates, speakers; Maccabees hall, Braddock, John W. Moreland, Franklin P. Booth, George Z. Hosack and others.

The following Republican meetings have been arranged for tomorrow evening: Franklin school, Eighth ward, A. J. Barchfeld, Harold M. Irons, Irvin K. Campbell, John W. Moreland and Franklin P. Booth; Morse school, Twenty-fifth ward, Daniel Ashworth, M. Hoke Gottschall and William Dodds; Millvale Republicans will also have a meeting tomorrow evening at which County Commissioner Charles B. Price and others will speak. There will be a meeting of the Republican workers of the Thirty-sixth ward in the West End Republican club rooms tomorrow evening.

For Friday evening the following meetings have been arranged by the Republicans: Brushton Avenue school house, Charles B. Price, Irvin K. Campbell, Charles A. O'Brien, John F. Cox, Andrew S. Miller and John W. Moreland; Tarentum, Charles B. Price, Irvin K. Campbell and William Kirker; Thirty-eighth ward public school, California and Estella streets, Perry A. Shaner and others; Wilkinsburg school house, Twenty-fourth ward, H. M. Irons, Charles H. Kline and P. H. McGuire; John Dalzell club house, Seventeenth ward, Charles A. O'Brien, John S. Weller and H. I. Riley.

State Federation of Women in Session at Cambridge Springs.

LIVELY OPENING SESSION

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM ANNA R. STRATTON, Staff Correspondent.

CAMBRIDGE SPRINGS, PA., Oct. 17.—The 10th annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women opened this afternoon in the little mountain town of Cambridge Springs. One hundred and twenty-five club women from Pittsburgh, reinforced by scores from other parts of the state, filled the auditorium of the Hotel Rider when the gavel fell at the opening of the convention. For two days they have been gathering.

The stress and fatigue of the opening session were forgotten tonight while a brilliant though informal reception, the only social function of the convention, was in progress in the ball room. Scores of club women neglected the reception, however, to play bridge whist, which promises to be a very powerful rival to the discussions on education, the public health and food adulteration.

The only excitement at the afternoon session today, when official reports were the order of the program, was furnished through a resolution introduced by Mrs. J. Ludwig Koethen, Jr., the delegate from the Civic club of Wilkinsburg. The resolution embodied a petition to President Roosevelt to use his influence, personally and officially, in furthering a conference to be held in Washington, D. C., to which the governors of the various states, at the invitation of Gov. Pennypacker of Pennsylvania, will send delegates to consider a unifying of the laws on marriage and divorce throughout the country, the delegation to consist of an equal number of men and women.

A score of women sprang to their feet to discuss the question which dragged on and was finally tabled on the motion of Mrs. J. R. Kibler, president of the New Era club of Pittsburgh. Not, however, before some spicy arguments had been presented. In explanation of her resolution Mrs. Koethen said the Civic club of Wilkinsburg had already written to President Roosevelt, and the petition had been kindly received. The vote to table the resolution brought out a division with a strong vote each way. The resolution will be brought up at a later session.

A petition to congress for the unseating of Senator Reed Smoot was passed and referred to the committee on resolutions, of which Mrs. Franklin P. Lams, New Era club, Pittsburgh, is chairman, to be incorporated into its report. The address of welcome was delivered by Mrs. Newbray B. Ross of the Gari Sac Mah club of Cambridge Springs, Miss Kate C. MacKnight of Pittsburgh, president of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women, responding.

There is a strong undercurrent of feeling regarding the election which will be held on Thursday morning. Miss MacKnight is sure of re-election, it being generally conceded that she has no opponent. Tonight it is asserted that the name of Miss Susanne Beatty, New Era club, Pittsburgh, will be withdrawn from nomination for the board of directors. Another woman from the same club is talked of for the office.

wrong-doing committed by any person in any way connected with the administration may be fully and impartially disclosed. I do not see how this can be done under the rules you have adopted, excluding the responsible heads of the departments as well as myself. I have noted that the counsel whom you have retained are the counsel for certain officials and contractors now under criminal charges and indictments for frauds upon the city, or inculpated in such frauds. It seems to me that it is impossible for these counsel to occupy the dual relationship of representing at the same time those now under formal criminal accusation—whose acts, I presume you will also investigate—and impartially aiding you in any investigation touching the integrity of the municipal administration.

Mayor Comes Unbidden.

The committee did not reply, and on the minute of 3 o'clock Mayor Weaver, accompanied by Col. Sheldon Potter, director of public safety; A. Lincoln Acker, director of public works, and F. J. Shoyer, director of the department of supplies, walked into the committee room before the committee had assembled. A few minutes later the sergeant-at-arms informed the mayor that inasmuch as only witnesses and newspaper men would be admitted to the room, the mayor and the directors would have to retire.

Mr. Weaver asked the sergeant to notify the committee that the mayor of Philadelphia and three of his directors desired to remain during the hearing. The chairman, Milton C. Work, appeared and notified the mayor that the committee would not change its rules and that the mayor and the directors must leave the room. A moment later the mayor and his directors filed out.

Taylor Gives Testimony.

When the committee convened, the first witness called was Supt. Taylor. He testified he was president of the Twenty-fourth Ward Republican club, and that the greater number of the policemen in the district in which the club is situated were members of the organization. On the last meeting night of the club, 40 or 50 policemen attended the meeting, he said, some of them leaving their beats to do so.

Witness said the policemen attended the meeting by permission of the lieutenant of the district, who had received orders from former Director of Public Safety Smyth that policemen were to be permitted to attend political meetings if they wanted to. This order, he said, had not been rescinded by the present director.

The superintendent was pressed so hard by counsel regarding police in politics that he became angry and started to make statements that startled the committeemen. He said if the committee wanted to know the whole truth about the police business he could tell them how Director Smyth told him to take care of repeaters and how he had to take from the rogue's gallery the photographs of men who were on the police force.

In vain the chairman tried to check Taylor, and threatened to eject him. The superintendent kept right on. One of the attorneys said the committee wanted to know how the homes of the people were protected.

Witness Gets Excited.

"I'll tell you," exclaimed the witness. "By men who have spent three and four years in the penitentiary, and whose pictures were taken from the rogue's gallery by Director Smyth."

Lieut. Thomas Campbell, the commander of the district under investigation, was called, and confirmed Superintendent Taylor's statement that the police were permitted to leave their beats under an order of Director Smyth.

After the hearing, Superintendent Taylor said that Director Smyth, when in office, told him not to let the policemen molest repeaters on election day.

The trial of John W. Hill, former chief of the filtration bureau, who is charged with forgery and falsifying the records of his bureau, which was to have begun today, has been postponed until after the November election. No date was set.

When the case was called, Assistant District Attorney Farr asked for a continuance, stating that several material witnesses were absent, and adding that the prosecution desired to call as witnesses members of the commission of experts now investigating the filtration plant. This commission's report, Mr. Farr said, will be ready within a month, and he stated it may have an important bearing on the case.

Board of Casualty and Surety Underwriters' Convention Puts Itself on Record.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The annual convention of the board of casualty and surety underwriters began here today. The report of the committee on taxation recommended agitation for lower and equal taxation and license fees in all states and the abolition of compulsory advertising. It was adopted.

United States Senator Morgan G. Bulkley, president of the Aetna Life Insurance Company of Hartford, presented the report of the committe on federal supervision. It was adverse to national legislation, and was adopted.

President Paul Merton of the Equitable addressed the convention, saying among other things:

> I believe I am voicing President Roosevelt's sentiments when I say that if he had his way he would insist that every great corporation of this country might be investigated once a year by public and independent auditors so that investors might be protected, directors informed and employes led not into temptation. I am one of those who believe that the evils from not having publicity are greater than those from publicity. Publicity is sure to come and is sure to stay in this country, and a time is near at hand when doctored bookkeeping will be treated in the same way that other malpractice is.

Lawyer Olds Frankly Admits He Has Been Retained by the Mutual to Look After Legislation.

LANSING, MICH., Oct. 17.—Attorney S. S. Olds tonight admitted he had for 10 years been paid a retainer by the Mutual Life Insurance Company. Asked what his work consisted of, he replied:

"It was principally looking after legislation. There were a great many bills we wished to defeat. So many in the last few years I can't recall them. The principal work was to prevent undesirable legislation, not to put through new laws."

FACES FORGERY CHARGE.

George Hayden, Formerly of Pittsburgh, Is Arrested at Carrollton.

George Hayden, a special agent of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York at Carrollton, O., formerly engaged in the life insurance business here, was arrested yesterday at Carrollton charged with forgery in dealing with policyholders. He is being prosecuted by the company. The amount involved is said to aggregate $10,000. It is claimed that he sold endowment insurance as paid-up and pocketed the difference. He pleaded not guilty, but was bound over for the grand jury.

Hayden went to Carrollton from Pittsburgh two years ago. While here he was connected at one time with the agency of the Equitable, but it was stated by Lawrence C. Woods, assistant manager of the Pittsburgh agency, that he had not had any serious trouble with the agency and that he was never prosecuted here.

Tonight the jury, acting under instructions from Judge Harrick of Marlboro, was temporarily excused in order to permit the gathering of additional evidence. States Attorney Magruder is still determined that the inquest shall be held behind closed doors, although it is said that since last night several of the jurors, feeling the weight of public opinion, are prepared to yield the point. Acting on the advice of counsel, Mrs. Amanda Mackall, the defendant's sister, has announced that she will refuse to testify at the inquest.

Altoona Man Tries to Drown His Sorrow in Pittsburgh When Girl Marries Another.

Because a girl with whom he had kept company for 11 years finally gave him up to marry a man whose courtship was not so long drawn out, Lewis P. McCormick, a car decorator of Altoona, is alleged to have attempted to drown his sorrow in drink. McCormick's queer actions at Center and South Highland avenue, East End, resulted in his arrest yesterday afternoon. When taken to the station house he became very mysterious, informing the sergeant he was a secret service detective.

After being confined in a cell for several hours McCormick's uncle, William H. McAnulty, gave $300 bail for his nephew's release.

Wool, being a non-conductor, preserves to the body its normal amount of electricity, instead of carrying it off and enfeebling the body, as other fabrics do. Hence the invigorating effect of an all-wool underwear. Of coures the best effects are obtained only from the best wool, and that, as everyone knows, is "Jaeger."

BIGELOW FEARS ASPINWALL VOTES

Orders the Annexation Ordinance Postponed Until After the Election Next Month.

TALKS WITH T. A. GILLESPIE

"The best thing is to let it rest where it is for the present," said Director Bigelow yesterday concerning the ordinance for the annexation of Aspinwall borough, which was disapproved by the special committee of select council on Monday. The director made this remark with a knowing wink and smile.

Mr. Bigelow's plan now is not to make another attempt to put the ordinance through councils until after the county election next month, when he proposes to take the ordinance up again and put it through councils. His purpose is to railroad the ordinance through councils, carry the election for annexation in the borough with the help of votes of filter employes whom Aspinwall residents claim are being colonized in the borough.

In this manner Mr. Bigelow hopes to have the borough and filter plant annexed to the city of Pittsburgh on the first of next January, so that the filtration payroll can be voted for the Citizens party candidate for mayor of Pittsburgh.

It was his original plan to put the ordinance through councils at once and rush annexation so that he could annex the filtration plant in time to give the filter employes a vote next February.

The popular uprising against his annexation scheme, displayed at the meeting of the council committee on Monday, was so threatening, however, that Mr. Bigelow has decided to postpone the project until after the election next month, when he proposes to take it up again. The next regular meeting of councils is set for October 30, but it will probably be called off to prevent the annexation fight being renewed in select council.

Director Bigelow wishes the resentment of Aspinwall people to subside for the present, fearing that if the fight is kept up it will cost the Citizens party ticket many votes in the borough next month. He held a long conference yesterday afternoon behind closed doors in his private office with T. A. Gillespie, contractor on the filtration plant. Mr. Bigelow was asked what the conference was about.

"We were just going over things," he said.

BOARD WILL CONSIDER NECESSITY OF SUBWAY

Fording-Morse Charter Calls Provision of the Act of 1901 Into Use Again.

The advertisement required by the amendment to the act of 1901 for appointing a board to hear arguments on the "necessity" of any underground or elevated railway appeared in the Pittsburgh papers yesterday for the Fording-Morse "Pittsburgh Subway Company."

This is only the second time that the board constituted by the amendment to the law has ever met. In November, 1902, it heard the claims of the Bloomfield and the Second Avenue Elevated Railway companies. There the argument on the "necessity" for these lines was cut short by the governor stating he had seen the conditions with his own eyes and the board approved the charters on the governor's admission.

The Pittsburgh Subway Company hearing is to be held on November 21. The board named by the law consists of the governor, the secretary of state and the attorney general. It is not expected there will be any great difficulty in Attorney Fording proving the subway is needed.

CARNEGIE CABLES HIS DELIGHT AT TECH START

Dr. John A. Brashear Addresses the Class and Still Others Will Speak This Week.

Great news. Delighted. Thanks to the class. CARNEGIE.

That was the answer which the charter class of the Carnegie Technical schools received yesterday from Andrew Carnegie in response to their telegram of the day before.

The principal feature at the "Tech" yesterday was an address by Dr. John A. Brashear, who spoke on the value of accuracy. He told of an instrument which varied but one half-millionth of an inch and yet was not accurate enough.

Each morning this week the class will have talks from men interested in the school. The actual work of instruction will not start until next week. This is giving an opportunity to a number of students to find employment that will finance them during their school years.

The schedule of hours for lectures is being completed. The building as now equipped allows for five lectures at a time.

INCREASES ITS CAPITAL.

Luna Park Company's Stock Is Raised from $375,000 to $600,000.

At a special meeting of the stockholders of the Luna Park Company held in the offices of the company in the People's Savings bank building yesterday morning it was voted to increase the capital stock of the company from $375,000 to $600,000. All the additional stock was taken up by present stockholders.

The additional $225,000 capital is to be applied to making extensive improvements and erecting new attractions in the local amusement park. Manager Ingersoll has just returned from a tour in the interest of the proposed improvements. He stated yesterday that he believed some of the innovations to be introduced will be revelations to the public, but did not deem it agvisable at this time to disclose the full plans of the company.

The Hunting Season.

Nimrod was a mighty hunter, but had he hunted in the "Highlands of Ontario" that are reached by the Grand Trunk Railway System he would have been a mightier one. Nimrod hunted for glory, but those who go up into the several districts in Ontario hunt for game and have no difficulty in finding it. The regions in which deer abound are the "Muskoka Lake," "Lake of Bays," "Maganetawan River," "Georgian Bay," "Lake Nipissing," the "French River," "Kawartha Lakes" and on the line of the Canada Atlantic between Scotia Junction and the boundary of Algonquin Park. The open season is from November 1st to November 15th.

For moose, the best region in Canada is found in Temagami, where the season opens October 15th and continues until November 15th.

The open season for ducks in Ontario is from September 1st to December 15th and for partridge September 15th to December 15th.

A beautifully illustrated book, "Haunts of Fish and Game," giving descriptions of the different hunting districts, game laws, maps, etc., sent free on application to W. Robinson, Traveling Passenger Agent, 506 Park Building, Pittsburgh, Pa.

New and Beautiful Oriental Rugs In All Sizes.

Our Oriental Rug buyer returned a week ago from Asia Minor, and his purchases are now on exhibition in the Fourth floor, East.

Those who have seen the collection, and who have any knowledge of the choice and rare Oriental Rugs, are greatly pleased with the specimens shown here.

We send our representative to the far east so that a better selection of finest Oriental Rugs may be had at a saving in prices over ordinary methods in collecting these rugs.

By going through the Oriental countries our buyer comes in direct contact with native collectors of Oriental Rugs, and his large experience with their methods enables him to procure choicest collections for most advantageous terms—in other words, it is a direct transaction without the disadvantage of a mix-up with a Constantinople agency of Armenian and New York importing houses.

Every rug sold in this department is sold on merit, as inspection and comparison will demonstrate.

The leading thought at all times regarding Oriental Rugs is to get such as will harmonize with modern decorative style. By sending our representative over there he can choose direct from first hands, and thus he overcomes the difficulty of selecting color tones so necessary to perfect harmony in decoration.

Fine to Finest Persian Rugs--
From our importation of Persian Rugs any color scheme arising can be effectively carried out. The great range in these beautiful rugs will be seen from these quotations:

$10.00 to $100.00 for hearth-size Persian Rugs.
$125.00 to $1,350.00 for room-size Persian Rugs.

Rugs From Asia Minor—
Such handsome specimens as Cassabas, Mellas, Ladiks, Berghamos, Koulas, Giordes, Oushaks and Koutalis are here in many different sizes, and in all the splendid color combinations which emanate from the Orient. These are shown in room sizes of 12x9 feet, and up to any size required.

We desire to say to those who wish Oriental Rugs of an extraordinary large size that we take orders and guarantee delivery in the shortest time possible.

Room Sizes In the Above Variety of Artistic Rugs, $85.00 to $250.00.

Hearth Sizes in the Above Varieties of Artistic Rugs, $40.00 to $85.00.

Artistic Interior Decoration.

Just as we often give notice that we do certain lines of work, just as often do we hear it said, "Why, we didn't know you executed such and such classes of work."

Right here, it seems to us in conection with these Oriental Rugs, is a right good place to revert to the fact that we Take Contracts for All Styles and Manner of Interior Decorations.

We have furnished many houses in this city complete from hall to mansard, and out-of-town business in this line grows larger and larger each year.

We have everything right here in our store at our command. Our Wall Paper Department has one of the leading stocks of the city. The range of papers carried here is from 10c a bolt up to $36.00. We make a special point of carrying the finest imported papers that come to this city, and are especially proud of our line of hand-tooled papers.

Our Drapery Department imports extraordinary large invoices of drapery stuffs, to say nothing of its unrivaled lines of Lace Curtains. Our buyer of lace curtains goes abroad each season, and he has access to the very latest productions of the most noted lace curtain mills in Europe. The extent of our variety can easily be surmised when we say that we have lace curtains at 50c a pair up to those that retail at several hundred dollars a pair.

Artistic Frescoing is part and parcel of our department of Interior Decorations. And as a specimen of this branch of our work we can refer to the remodeled Belasco Theater.

From the foregoing brief mention it will be seen that we are fully prepared to take a house from the hands of the contractor and fit it out with the most modern, stylish and luxurious equipment.

Our Enlarged Furniture Department.

This department, greatly enlarged over its former space, is now stocked with the most substantial furniture produced in this country. Heretofore we have only handled the more costly furniture, but this season we have introduced large lines of popular priced furniture. We have every sort of furniture that is used in the house; we have it as costly as may be desired, or as inexpensive as may be desired. A feature of this department is

The Designing and Building of Furniture to Order.

Our Cabinet Shop employs none but the most expert cabinet workers and we make furniture to order, either from designs submitted to us or from designs executed by our experts.

It is part of our business to submit estimates for such work as above mentioned, and we as cheerfully give figures for the furnishment of one room as we do for the furnishment of the entire house.

Wednesday, October 18, 1905.

Among the matters to be considered by Secretary of War Taft on his next visit to Panama is the fortification of the canal terminals. The canal is meant to benefit the commerce of the world in time of peace, but the American investment is not for the purpose of affording facilities to an enemy in time of war. The terminal fortifications should be ample to guard the entrances.

President Roosevelt's proclamation prohibiting the shipment of arms and ammunition from American territory to Santo Domingo is timely. There are others of our neighboring republics that would be better off without firearms. Santo Domingo, however, is of peculiarly turbulent disposition and every means should be taken to prevent fresh revolutions, at least until some of its debts are paid.

Director Bigelow has decided he does not desire to provoke the wrath of Aspinwall borough before the county election has been held. Yet he desires to bring the filtration laborers into the city for voting purposes before the municipal election. Mr. Bigelow's scheme is so transparent he is likely to lose his votes on both occasions. A little attention to the public business of his department would strike Mr. Fulton as better politics for the moment.

The dangerous influence of the automobile road race, it appears, is not entirely expended on the day of the event. There is an aftermath. The race for the Vanderbilt cup was run last Saturday over the Mineola (Long Island) course. Not content with witnessing the event, a number of auto enthusiasts decided to emulate the contestants and yesterday were speeding over the course at a dangerous pace. A dozen were arrested and fined. Autos that run at express speed have no right on the public roads.

Return of the Panama canal consulting board of engineers and members of the commission is accompanied by no important information concerning the type of construction. Gen. Abbott, at least, went to the isthmus opposed to the sea level proposition. It is quite probable he will be more positive in his opinion after considering the question on the ground. Extra cost, which means larger fixed charges, and delay in completion are considerations likely to more than balance the advantages of a sea level canal.

Our always Democratic contemporary, the Post, has dropped its sycophantic appeals in behalf of the "honest Republicans" of Pennsylvania and is shouting for the Democratic ticket. It has even lost its admiration for Lincoln since the party of that name in this county went contrary to its advice to the Citizens party—indorsed Berry and refused to indorse the fusion county ticket, including F. X. Barr, alias J. J. Grady of the golf links. As a Democrat the Post is no more inconsistent than its party, but as a "reformer" it is a flat failure.

Daily bulletins of trouble in St. Petersburg continue. The latest tells of 40 persons injured in an encounter between police and strikers. Work was suspended throughout the industrial quarter of the city yesterday. Trades not yet affected are considering the advisability of joining the movement. As usual no means, other than that of armed force, are being employed to quell the popular unrest. There is no hint of governmental concession or diplomacy; no suggestion of arbitration from high official sources. That is not St. Petersburg's way of doing business.

The amendment to the civil service rules authorized by President Roosevelt yesterday, granting cabinet officers the power of summary removal of employes for inefficiency or misconduct, while somewhat sweeping, seems to have been necessary. Since the head of a department is responsible for the work of that department, he should certainly have something to say regarding its personnel. Cabinet officials are supposed to be above considerations of petty spite, and can be trusted to employ their new grant of authority only where the absolute necessity is apparent.

The Apologist at Work.

In its capacity as apologist for the pledge-breaking Citizens party—and of "Buck" Wallace—the Dispatch expatiates further on the alleged violation of Republican pledges in the grant of the Duquesne way franchise in return for the present occupation of Liberty avenue. It also makes another vicious attack on the district attorney's office, which has offended by prosecuting grafters in Allegheny. Incidentally it makes a few bitter and false allusions to the Gazette, though in its usual cowardly fashion it does not name this paper.

On the Duquesne way franchise The Gazette has nothing to add to, or subtract from its statement made the other day. Almost everybody except the purblind Dispatch recognizes the advantage to the city that will accrue from having Liberty avenue freed from the hampering railroad tracks. Liberty is a main avenue from the downtown section to Lawrenceville and the East End. It is a magnificent thoroughfare. With the incubus removed it will do more to relieve downtown congestion than any other one improvement proposed. That is worth something.

As for the attacks on the district attorney, they have no reasonable foundation. Maj. Stewart has been an efficient prosecutor and is a particularly conscientious official. He has incurred the displeasure of the police administrations on both sides of the river because he has endeavored to do his duty by prosecuting offenders against the law—particularly on account of the so-called Allegheny graft cases. On one occasion the Dispatch objected to these prosecutions on the ground they displaced "more important cases" and alleged they were for "political purposes." Since then it has been content merely to assist "Buck" Wallace in magnifying alleged failures of justice in the court house, despite the fact that "Buck" has failed to keep his promises to produce evidence and declared his ability to capture fugitives from justice without making any move toward performing that duty.

It will be recalled that "Buck" Wallace was fined on the charge of making a verbal assault on and interfering with Amos Dachroth, who was serving papers in the Allegheny cases. Ever since that time the Pittsburgh police superintendent has shown his bitterness toward the district attorney's office and his super-serviceable newspaper apologists have given much space to allegations against the district attorney, and even against judges of the courts. They have not, by this means, bettered the cause of the Citizens party or the disgraceful administrations of Pittsburgh and Allegheny. On the contrary they have but served to call general public attention to, and to excite general public contempt for the unscrupulous methods of themselves and those they apologize for.

Old Foes as Friends.

King Edward's reception yesterday to 60 members of the Paris municipal council, who are the guests of the London municipal councilors, calls renewed attention to the era of better feeling upon which France and England, those ancient foes, seem to have entered. The king, who can be the very personification of affability when he wishes, appears to have exerted himself yesterday to make his guests feel at home, shaking hands informally with each and extending a few words of welcome. Only a few weeks since a number of officers and men from the French navy were entertained by the corporation of London. Parliament also took a hand in the affair and a banquet of much significance was held in old Westminster hall, at which speeches were made urging closer and friendlier relations between the two nations. English and French sailors fraternized in the streets, instead of breaking each others' heads, as has been their custom upon meeting in foreign ports, while the officers of the two navies learned to know each other for the first time. A return visit of British officers and sailors is planned, and the people of Paris will try to outdo even English hospitality in the warmth of their welcome.

All this is, of course, mightily displeasing to the German kaiser. Indeed, this Franco-English friendliness doubtless lent some credence to the recent reports of promised military support to France in the event of war with Germany over the Moroccan question. Certainly the ancient enemies, for reasons best known to themselves, are indulging in some remarkable coquetry. It is pleasant to observe and will not occasion Uncle Sam any serious worry.

A Comic Opera Nation.

While the scene of at least one amusing comic opera has been laid in Korea, it is somewhat surprising to learn that the librettist has not only refrained from exaggeration in picturing the ludicrous conditions to be met with in that strange land, but has actually failed to measure up to the situation. George Kennan, who contributes a serious study of the Korean character to the Outlook, relates numerous incidents which should have been utilized by George Ade for dramatic purposes. "Graft" permeates every circle of official society. For instance, an official extortioner singles out a rich merchant for his victim and, going to the emperor, purchases a decoration of the order of the plum blossom. This he presents to the merchant, with the emperor's compliments," adding: "There is a slight charge of $5,000 for expenses connected with the bestowal of this high honor." The merchant objecting to the payment, he is lodged in prison until he consents to accept the honor and pay the price for the "reward of merit." The latest annual budget provides $450,000 for the support of the Korean navy. The navy consists of one old gunboat, which remains constantly in port. The pension bureau is maintained at a cost of $27,000 annually and grants pensions to the amount of $1,956. Last January the police of Pingyang took up the profession of burglary. When the governor remonstrated, they indignantly threatened to disband and leave the city without any protection! When a Korean regiment receives an order to proceed to some other post, its members have the privilege of meeting and voting as to whether they shall go or not. A Korean official may be a robber, a murderer or a torturer and still hold his position, but if he goes into mourning for a dead relative he must resign.

This is the people whose regeneration through the existing government Japan is pledged to accomplish. Japan has undertaken a mighty task.

A Philadelphia Mob.

Philadelphia yesterday morning was the scene of a remarkable disorderly demonstration. That nothing serious came of it is no fault of the Philadelphia police, who, according to reports, made no attempt to quell the disturbance and no arrangements for the protection of the citizens menaced. The affair has been heralded by a certain class of newspapers as a "manifestation of public sentiment." The Gazette does not believe the demonstration could have been approved by more Philadelphians than were engaged in it, for it was a dangerous manifestation of the rabble—a near approach to riot, which is a term that is significant to Pittsburghers, especially the older residents.

There is no excuse for the mob spirit under our form of government. There are orderly remedies for every possible public abuse. There have been abuses in Philadelphia, though not to the extent portrayed by the men who are endeavoring to "reform" one organization out of power that another may take its place in absorbing whatever graft may be available. It is proper to stop and correct the abuses, but it is playing with fire to organize the disorderly element to make mob demonstrations.

Every good citizen, every property holder, every man with a home he loves must recoil from the assertion of mob power—must blanch when he reflects that mob spirit once loosed knows not where to stop in its career of violence, rapine and plunder. The Philadelphia mob was tame. That was a piece of good fortune. Its tameness may have been due to the fact it was employed for the work and had no heart in it. Even so, it was a dangerous experiment that should not be repeated.

Earning His Pittance.

Having assisted, in the interest of F. X. Barr, alias J. J. Grady, and others, in keeping Berry's name off the Citizens ticket, the lying Leader pretends now to be boosting Berry for election. Having denied the Citizens party seven of its ten claims to consideration in the campaign, the same lying Leader remains enthusiastic in support of the candidates for re-election whose administration of their offices earned no credit that could be pointed to publicly.

This same Leader, which nominated Berry on August 16 "with equal unanimity" and which claims that quoting Controller Larkin's words is abuse of that gentleman, continues to flounder around with imaginary information and bald misstatements in its effort to make some return for the delinquent tax gratuity thrown its way.

Very recently this same lying Leader was denouncing the Citizens leaders and eulogizing the Orphans. Now it is throwing mud at the Orphans and Municipal Leaguers. Its inconsistency and self-stultification does not pass unobserved by its handful of readers, which from day to day grows smaller. Its denunciations of reputable gentlemen who are not, as the Leader is, reformers for revenue only, constitutes an offense to the public sense of decency, and is doing almost as much injury to the cause of the discredited Citizens party as its own shameless violation of every pledge and obligation.

A few suspicious persons will continue to believe those French councilors are only snooping around London to pick up pointers that will be useful for the French invasion.

That North Dakota murderer who sang a song of his own composition on the scaffold has established a precedent that may make hangings unpopular.

Everybody is denouncing Mars these days, but he will probably continue to do business at the old stand for a good many years to come.

That Princeton theory that the Epistle to the Romans was written by a woman might find more credence if there were a postscript attached.

Those deaf mutes who married at Madison, Wis., two hours after being introduced had not even a speaking acquaintance.

Mr. Bryan's horror of "imperialism" is not carried so far as to decline the Japanese emperor's invitation to a social chat.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Old Bachelors and Maids Are Such Because They Are Built That Way.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

"A bachelor lies beneath this sod
Who disobeyed the laws of God.
Advice to others thus I give—
Don't live a 'bach' as I did live."

Hugh DeWitt has graven these lines on the monument he is preparing to stand at the head of the tomb in which his mortal remains are to be deposited.

That this survivor of the Mexican war, and now an inmate of the Soldiers' home at Lafayette, Ind., has dug his own grave, walled it with cement, and carved his own tombstone, proves him to be eccentric, to say the least.

And yet he has always been regarded as a man of fair intelligence and good common sense.

* * *

The reason he gives for never having married is that God intended him to live single. This does not accord well with the inscription on his tombstone. If he is a bachelor because it was intended that he should be such, is it not fair to infer that others are bachelors for the same reason, and for them to marry would be to violate the law of nature which makes them bachelors?

The same law applies to women as well as to men, and if you can get an old maid to talk seriously on the subject she will say that she never loved as do women who marry.

She will admit that she admires men, respects them, and enjoys being in their company, but as for having them for sweethearts, beaux and lovers, she has neither feeling nor desire.

Careful investigation will show that in a large majority of cases men and women have remained unmarried simply because their tastes and desires didn't run to matrimony.

Those who marry because it is held to be the proper thing, and not because they want to, are almost certain to find the married state quite undongenial.

* * *

To compel old bachelors of either sex to marry would compel them to violate the laws of nature under which they have developed, and under which they live.

Natural law is never arbitrary nor compulsory, but inflexible. Whatsoever it requires is necessary, therefore just and right. Whenever its requirements are not met failure is certain to follow, which failure brings as great discomforts as would be the comforts following a strict observance of the law.

If the mating instinct be absent through any cause at all, the law not only does not demand mating, but forbids it. This instinct belongs to animal nature exclusively, and does not necessarily affect the spiritual nature.

This point was brought to the attention of the Master and He settled it by declaring that in heaven there is no marrying nor giving in marriage, which means that sex is unknown in the spiritual state.

This accounts for the application of the masculine gender to angels and spiritual beings generally, there being a rule of grammar under which things without sex are classed as masculine.

* * *

Just now there is a rumpus in the art world over certain paintings and statuary in which angels are represented in manner and form as of feminine gender.

Whether the Belmont angels shall be allowed to fill the niches in Bishop Potter's new cathedral is one of the questions of the hour in church and art circles.

But why have them at all, since human beings were not built to wear wings? And what more absurd, if not ludicrous object than the figure of either man or woman with wings attached to it?

Real angels, such as we are permitted to see here on earth, are clad as men and women. We only know them by their works, their angelic conduct, the good they do, and not by wings or halos.

Why not, therefore, represent angels by figures of women and men in the act of performing good deeds, but without wings?

* * *

How would you do for an angel model? Or do you know any women or men whom you can recommend as being fit models?

How about your children as models for cherubim? Can you recommend the children of any of your neighbors, if yours are not fit?

Seriously now, do you expect to meet most of the people whom you know, and their children, in heaven? Do you really hope, and earnestly desire to meet them there?

Dont run in a lot of "ifs, buts and ands," for as they die so will they be, and in whatever respect you differ from what you are now spiritually, will consist solely of changes effected in your life between now and its ending.

If you are not angelic when you die you will not be when resurrected, be assured of that. And as you live so shall you die.

Therefore, in order to be an angel hereafter you must be angelic here.

What think you of your chances?

* * *

To be angelic is to be good, that's all. None can be better than good.

But we are told that there are none good, not even one on earth. To be absolutely good is to be equal to God, which is not possible.

However, we can be as good as we can be. More than this will not be required nor expected. The black marks given us will be for our failures to do the good that it was possible for us to do.

Where does this leave you?

If each and everyone of us were as good as we know we ought to be, what a glorious world we would have. It would be a veritable paradise, a garden surrounding heaven itself.

Why are we not as good as we ought to be? Isn't it because we are not educated as we ought to be? Is not wrong living on the part of the people due to wrong schooling while they were yet children?

Are your children being schooled in the ways of right living? If not whose fault will it be if they go wrong?

Alway a Diversion in Kansas.

OLD AGE.

It is too late! Ah! nothing is too late
Till the tired heart shall cease to palpitate.
Cato learned Greek at eighty; Sophocles
Wrote his grand Oedipus and Simonides
Bore off the prize of verse from his competers,
When each had numbered more than fourscore years;
And Theophrastus at fourscore and ten
Had but begun his "Characters of Men."
Chaucer, at Woodstock, with the nightingales,
At sixty wrote the "Canterbury Tales."
Goethe, at Weimar, toiling to the last,
Completed "Faust" when eighty years were past.

What, then? Shall we sit idly down and say
The night hath come; it is no longer day?
The night hath not yet come; we are not quite
Cut off from labor by the failing light;
Something remains for us to do or dare.
Even the oldest trees some fruit may bear.
For age is opportunity no less
Than youth itself, though in another dress;
And as the evening twilight fades away,
The sky is filled with stars, invisible by day.

FIFTH AVENUE TAKES ON AUTUMN COLORS

Annual Transformation Is Effected as Gothamites Come Back from Vacations.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—These are the days when New York awakens and comes once more to the full enjoyment of her own. Elections may come and weird candidates may go, but Fifth avenue goes on forever. And at this particular time of the year, when the foliage on the principal churches and the older clubs is changing from green to yellow, Fifth avenue is more typically New York than ever. During the long, hot months of summer, when the postoffice guide would be necessary to discover the address of half of New York, the avenue is a thing to weep over. It appears to be inhabited during the day mainly by dejapidated stages, nondescript dogs, and men in white overalls, who spend most of their "working" hours in saloons lunches or smoking to stimulate digestion and imagination. But with the coming of these fine autumn days comes a rapid transformation. The cement barrels are whisked around the corners to serve as advertising mediums for the advanced in art at the theaters, the boardings disappear, even the horses on the stages are replaced by animals unaffected by spavin and the blind staggers. Streets and sidewalks are thronged, not merely with the wealth and would-be fashion of New York, but by New York. Everything as well as everybody looks happy, and, looking happy, appears at its best. New York is awake—and apparently very much refreshed.

Will Know All About Roads.

Five state senators and four assemblymen, members of the joint legislative committee on good roads, accompanied by good roads enthusiasts, left the Murray Hill hotel today on a thousand-mile automobile trip through this state, Massachusetts and Connecticut to gain information that will be of use in framing legislation. They had six cars. The committee expects to return with full knowledge about good roads, and how they make them in Massachusetts and Connecticut. Incidentally they will have a pretty good time. The hampers of the touring cars were not empty.

Doc Owens Barred from Card Room.

"Dr." Owens came back to America today in the steamer Kron Prinz Wilhelm, and the commander of the vessel, Capt. A. Richter, made the professional gambler sign a contract not to play cards pending a decision to permit him to cross in the vessel. The well-known card man came under the name of "Herr Allen." It is claimed that even with the agreement, Owens went into the smoker one day and picked up a pack of cards whereupon one of the stewards, so the story goes, told him it was a most beautiful day on deck. Owens is said to have taken the hint.

Slocum Fund Is Closed.

Herman Ridder, chairman of the Citizens' Relief committee for the Slocum disaster, has written a letter to the mayor, explaining the work of the committee. The committee gave assistance in various forms to 92 families, expending $90 44 in excess of the amount in its possession, which deficit was made up by St. Mark's church. Thus there are now no funds whatever in the hands of the committee. In order to close the fund entirely the committee of St. Mark's church, in whose hands the pensions have been placed, are authorized to use any unexpended pensions for the funeral bills of the holders, and for the benefits of their heirs.

Registration in Gotham Is Light.

The city's registration for this year is 647,589, a gain of 29,508 over 1903. The total in 1902 was 598,139. To this gain Brooklyn contributes 10,963; Queens, 4,975; Richmond, 553, and the Bronx approximately, 5,969. The Manhattan districts show a loss. Eleven of the 33½ districts in Manhattan show gains. The Eleventh and Twelfth, both Democratic, have lost heavily by the demolishing of whole blocks, in one instance for the erection of the Pennsylvania railroad terminal, and in the other for the western approach of the Williamsburg bridge.

Ivins Throws Another Bomb.

William M. Ivins, the Republican candidate for mayor, in a statement issued today, characterizes the McClellan administration as "abominable." The statement was called forth by W. R. Hearst's declination to appear in public debate with Mr. Ivins on the ground there had been too much "talk" already. According to the Republican candidate there will be a great deal more "talk" from him before the campaign is over, and in that "talk" he thinks thoughtful people will find much that is "illuminating."

"Black Hand" Has 5,000 Members.

Despite the activities of the police, the Black Hand society is growing. Detective Petrosino said today: Five thousand men organized to do murder in this city, if their orders are not obeyed, represents the strength of that heartless and fearless society known as the Black Hand, which is continually kidnaping children, hurling bombs and slaying defenceless merchants in their homes. I could furnish to the government officials in 24 hours the names of 1,000 Italians who should be deported at once."

CARNEGIE WOULD FORM A LEAGUE OF PEACE

Dr. Holland and Other Americans Honored at Scotland University.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ST. ANDREWS, SCOTLAND, Oct. 17.—Never before have so many distinguished Americans directly participated in ceremonies connected with the inauguration of the rector of a British university as partook in today's functions at St. Andrews when Andrew Carnegie was installed as lord rector for a second term. Whitelaw Reid, the American ambassador at London; Charlemagne Tower, American ambassador at Berlin; Bishop Henry C. Potter of New York, and Dr. William J. Holland, director of the Carnegie museum at Pittsburgh, occupied seats on the platform and had conferred on them the honorary degree of doctor of laws, which also was bestowed on Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, New York, in absentia.

The hall was crowded with scarlet gowned undergraduates of both sexes and the male students enlivened the proceedings with the usual amount of chaff and song. The entrance of Mr. Carnegie was the signal for an outburst of enthusiasm.

Could Banish War.

"Five nations, or even three, banded together in a league of peace and inviting all other nations to join them, could banish all war in the future. This opinion was expressed by Mr. Carnegie in his rectorial address to the students in the University of St. Andrews. In outlining the plan for the league of peace Mr. Carnegie said:

"Five nations co-operated in quelling the recent Chinese disorders and rescuing their representatives in Pekin. It is perfectly clear that these five nations could banish war. Suppose even three of them formed a league of peace—inviting all other nations to join—and agreed that since war in any part of the civilized world affects all nations, and often seriously, that no nation shall go to war, but shall refer international disputes to The Hague conference or other arbitral body for peaceful settlement, the league agreeing to declare non-intercourse with any nation refusing compliance. Imagine a nation cut off today from the world.

"The league also might reserve to itself the right, where non-intercourse is likely to fail or has failed to prevent war, to use the necessary force to maintain peace, each member of the league agreeing to provide the needed forces, or money in lieu thereof, in proportion to her population and wealth.

Wars Not at an End.

"Notwithstanding all the cheering signs of the growth of arbitration, we should delude ourselves if we assumed that war is immediately to cease, for it is scarcely to be hoped that the future has not to witness more than one great holocaust of men to be offered up before the reign of peace blesses the earth. The scorn from the smoldering mass of the fiery past, the seeds that great wars have sown, may be expected to burst out at intervals more and more remote until the poison of the past is exhausted.

"That there is to be perfect unbroken peace in our progress to this end we are not so unduly sanguine as to imagine. We are prepared for more than one outbreak of madness and folly in the future as in the past, but that peace is to come at last, and that sooner, much sooner than the majority of my hearers can possibly credit, I for one entertain not one particle of doubt."

Kind Words for Americans.

At the close of Mr. Carnegie's address degrees were conferred on the five Americans and four Scotchmen.

The dean, in presenting Bishop Potter and Ambassador Reid for the honorary degrees of doctor of laws, said they were both distinguished citizens of the lord rector's adopted country. Bishop Potter probably was more widely known in Great Britain than any American churchman. The choice of Bishop Potter for the special honor would be warmly acclaimed. Bishop Potter, who replied briefly, was received with great applause.

In presenting Mr. Reid the dean was specially eulogistic. He said Mr. Reid's services and career were well worthy of his ancestry. He had taken an active part in the war of humanity which marked an epoch in the annals of American history and the human race, and since as the representative of America in Paris and elsewhere, he had become master of those arts which make for peace between great nations.

In the course of his speech the dean made a happy allusion to President Roosevelt, who was loudly cheered.

Mr. Reid, in replying, thanked the dean for the hearty and kindly reception in the name of "our gallant and spirited colonel of Rough Riders," who had also earned the rector's praise for his practical diplomacy in the direction of peace between two great nations of the world.

The dean next presented Ambassador Tower and described him as a man whose career spoke of everything that was best in mental and moral culture and in the highest of human aspirations. All the Americans were given a most enthusiastic reception.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

He was "from Missouri," but one didn't have to "show him." Gov. Folk of Missouri was for himself, and along with his keen insight into affairs and men, he has that winning personality that is known as magnetism. The governor was a passenger on the 20 Louis limited last evening. He was returning from a visit to Philadelphia, and while the train stopped at the Union station he chatted freely about the new phase of our life which he terms "America's awakening." He caused not a little amusement, but showed how he fits circumstances to suit himself when he wrote an answer to a telegram by pulling down the telegraph messenger's head by the visor of his cap and using the flat top of the cap as a writing desk.

"I have never seen a city more stirred up than Philadelphia is just now," said Gov. Folk. "The people are in the heartiest sympathy with Mayor Weaver. What do I think of him? Well, that depends on what light you want me to look at him. As a public officer and a reformer he is splendid, and he will not better his fine record as affairs proceed in the Philadelphia movement. I was really surprised at the feeling of the people, but I can see that it is simply a streamlined public sentiment in the right way.

"Reform in the graft game must be furthered by public sentiment if that reform is to be effective. We might have the penitentiaries full of prisoners for graft, and yet not be a whit better off as a nation and people. Prosecutions might be made by the hundred, but unless the great American public is awakened along with the exposures and prosecutions, the effect would not be beneficial to the republic and to the states and cities. For the entire history of the country up to four years ago there were only 76 prosecutions which reached the higher courts, but in the past four years there have been 40 times that many.

"It is America's awakening. The people throughout the country, in small cities and towns as well as in the lar

ANOTHER CLUE IN CUNLIFFE CASE

Woman Is Said to Have Seen Him Take Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Train to Buffalo.

M'QUAIDE IS NOW IN CHARGE

The mystery deepens. Did Edward G. Cunliffe leave for Buffalo on the night of the $101,000 robbery at the Adams Express Company in Wood street and then hasten to Montreal? This is said to be the newest clue to occupy the attention of the detectives on the case, though they still refuse to discuss the case further than to say that Cunliffe will surely be captured "ultimately."

According to a report circulated yesterday, a woman well known to the Cunliffe family met the fugitive in the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad station on the night of the robbery and spoke to him. She is quoted as saying that Cunliffe was bound for Buffalo. This clue is said to be the most substantial that the pursuers have yet encountered, and if it has a foundation in fact it bears out the theory of Detective G. B. Perkins in a Gazette interview, in which he concluded that if Cunliffe has left the city he would employ a railroad not carrying Adams Express Company business, because of his associations with the employes.

George Porteous of Chicago, said to be an authority on criminology, is in the city, and has consulted with Superintendent of Detectives McQuaide and Superintendent H. J. Biderman of the Pinkerton bureau, after making a careful study of the photographs of Cunliffe and his known habits. What his deductions are have not been made known. A search of the criminal records of the country through Bertillion system flies reveals the fact that Cunliffe had no criminal record.

While the latest clue which points to the fugitive as having sought quietude in Canada is being given serious consideration, it is the opinion of experienced detectives that Cunliffe would be at a disadvantage in seeking foreign soil. The money which disappeared with him would have to be changed for use, and if one man would offer a large sum for exchange he would come under immediate suspicion, while the same would be the case if he were persistent in offering small sums for exchange. It has been the experience of seasoned sleuths that embezzlers who have exhausted their plunder before being under suspicion, seek a complete change of climate in which to rest in peace, but one with ready funds, negotiatable only in this country, usually remains within the confines of the nation.

Superintendent McQuaide is now the directing head in the search and no move will be made hereafter until first consulting him. It is recognized that the work of the bureaus throughout the country must be systematized under one director and this task has been reposed in Superintendent McQuaide.

Word was received from Steubenville last night that Pittsburgh detectives were searching through that neighborhood for the fugitive. David Graham, a farmer residing near Wintersville, is said to have encountered a man answering Cunliffe's description and carrying a grip, while driving to Reeds Mills. The man rode with him part of the way, but upon the approach of two buggies from the opposite direction he jumped from the wagon and ran off. Graham telegraphed the description of the man to the local offices of the Adams Express Company and orders were sent out to search the surrounding country.

RIDE ON HAND CAR TO SUDDEN DEATH

Three Laborers Meet Violent End on Wabash Road—Unknown Peddler Suffocated.

LONG LIST FOR THE CORONER

Three men are dead as the result of a collision between a freight train and a hand car on the Wabash railroad, near Cecil, yesterday morning at 5 o'clock.

THE DEAD.

ANTON RALBAFSKY, aged 36, of Cecil, a section hand. Died at the Passavant hospital from fractured skull and other injuries.

JOHN KLEMPA, aged 33, of McDonald, a section hand. Leaves widow and four children.

PETER SOTTNIK, aged 31, of McDonald, a section hand. Leaves a widow and one child.

Eight men boarded the hand car at McDonald and started to propel it toward Cecil. There was a heavy fog, and while the men were working the car they did not see freight train No. 86 coming toward them. The train was within 100 feet when the men noted their danger. Five of them escaped injury by jumping, but Tottnik and Klempa were killed outright and Ralbofsky was fatally injured. The hand car was splintered by the impact.

The foreman of the section told Deputy Coroner Schad that he had orders to wait for fast freight No. 86, which was late, but that after waiting half an hour and the freight not appearing, he ordered the men to put the hand car on the track and go ahead.

The body of an unknown man, supposed to be a peddler, was found on the tracks of the Union railroad at Thompson Run, Mifflin township, yesterday morning with his hands and face burned off. He was seen about Thompson Run on Monday and was intoxicated at that time. When found he had a pint of whisky in his pocket. It is supposed he lay down near a burning cinder pile to sleep and became asphyxiated by the gas fumes and rolled on the burning cinders. There was nothing found on his person by which he could be identified.

Because he was despondent over continued ill-health, E. A. Hendershaw, aged 40, of 1120 Beaver avenue, Allegheny, yesterday morning took his life by drawing a razor across his throat. He had not been able to work for more than a year. When his wife went to call him yesterday morning she found him in bed with a gash in his throat. A physician who was called said the man had been dead for half an hour. For many years he was employed in one of the mills in lower Allegheny as an ironworker.

Albert W. Schultz, aged 2 years, was instantly killed in front of his mother's door in Becks Run at 12:35 o'clock yesterday afternoon by being run over by a wagon. The child was playing in the street and was toddling toward his home, having been called by his mother, when knocked down and crushed.

John Mills, aged 17 months, of Clairton, died at the home of his parents yesterday from burns received Monday.

Hon. Jerry Simpson Very Low.

WICHITA, KAN., Oct. 17.—Former Congressman Jerry Simpson showed improvement tonight, after suffering a hemorrhage today, and the attending physician said he might live through the night.

TO CELEBRATE THE OPENING OF THE CROSS-TOWN ROAD

Morningside District Will Jubilate Upon an Extensive Scale Over the Connecting Line from Butler Street to the East End.

Morningside residents, Eighteenth ward, will celebrate the opening of the Morningside street railway line, which is just completed and which will connect Butler street with the East End. Arrangements for the celebration were made last night by the Morningside Civic association, which met in the school house and named the committees.

The committee in charge is composed of J. C. Unverzagt, chairman; Albert Self, Wilson Conner, Allan Perry, John Crookson, James Fox, F. H. Walton and Edward Stiehler. James G. Haggerty, J. L. Forsaith and Albert Self constitute the committee on decorations. The 200 pupils of the Morningside school will participate.

The Pittsburgh Railways Company has offered to place as many cars at its disposal as the association wants. A trip over the route of the new line will be made and the Mt. Albion school will also be asked to take part.

Select Councilman Wainright made a speech to the association last night, commenting upon the marked growth of the Morningside district and the increase of property valuations with the past three years. He said the population of the Eighteenth ward had trebled in that time. An address was made by Joseph L. Vilsack, a property owner in the Morningside district.

URGES THE MINISTERS TO DISCUSS LIFE INSURANCE

Member of Baptist Ministers' Union Believes the Question is a Fitting Theme for the Pulpit.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SCRANTON, PA., Oct. 17.—The Baptist Ministers' Union of Pennsylvania, in convention here today, adopted a resolution, declaring that divorce should not be granted on any other than Biblical ground of unfaithfulness and in this case none but the innocent party should be permitted to remarry. Separation, for other causes in some instances, the resolution goes on to say, is necessary.

In the course of an address on "The Mission of the City Church," Rev. J. B. G. Paidge of Philadelphia, declared life insurance was a fitting theme for the pulpit, and urged ministers to take up its discussion. He thanked God for the disclosures brought about by the insurance investigation, claiming that such publicity was the best means of eradicating this graft and evil.

In closing, Dr. Paidge referred to the wave of reform that is sweeping over his home town, Philadelphia, and stated that they were all praying that the leaders in the movement, both of whom are Baptists, will be successful.

BOY TRIES SECOND TIME AND IS FATALLY HURT

John Dignan, aged 11, son of John W. Dignan of Sixth avenue, Homestead, was probably fatally injured yesterday while jumping a train on the Pennsylvania railroad. He was not deterred when he fell from the train on the first attempt, but ran along, and in jumping on the second time, his head struck a telegraph pole, knocking him nearly under the wheels. His skull was fractured and he was internally injured.

"Peter Pan" at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—Before an immense representative audience at the New National theater tonight, for the first time in America, J. M. Barrie's "Peter Pan" was presented, with Maude Adams in the principal role. It is a fairy story, replete with novel, laughable situations.

HISTORIAN CHURCH TELLS STORY OF HENRY IRVING

Actor Reads Pittsburgher's Life of Cromwell and Invites Him to See Hero's Maltreatment.

Samuel Harden Church, the historian of Oliver Cromwell, knew the late Sir Henry Irving, the English actor, and once he accepted an invitation from Sir Henry to attend the rendition of Wills' play, "Charles I." This was in London, in 1885, one years after the appearance of Mr. Church's work, "Life of Oliver Cromwell." Irving told Mr. Church that he had read his life of the great protector in making his study of Charles, and he would be delighted to have Mr. Church accept the courtesies of the Lyceum, Irving's theater, during the period of his visit.

"I attended the performance of Charles I," said Mr. Church yesterday, "and just before the curtain was rung up, Mr. Irving's manager, Bram Stoker, came to me in my seat to warn me, in Sir Henry's name, that I would not find the play true to history. Sure enough the action turned upon an imaginary battle of Newark, which was never fought, and Charles was presented to the public as the model of a righteous sovereign, while Ellen Terry played Queen Henrietta Maria most charmingly. It was all very beautiful and very touching, but not until the play was half over and I saw what they were doing with my hero, Cromwell, did I begin to understand why Sir Henry had sent his warning. There was Cromwell, a pot-house politician, a hypocrite, a bigot, playing villain to the king—Cromwell, the man whose monument Edward Everett Hale and I were pleading for from the British parliament!"

BIGELOW NOT IN FAVOR OF A MEMORIAL HALL

Thinks People Will Vote for It, However—Proposed Column in Memory of Soldiers.

"I opposed a memorial hall and advocated instead a high column erected in honor of the civil war veterans and other soldiers in the triangle at Liberty and Fifth avenues, but notwithstanding my objections, the memorial hall proposition was adopted and will be submitted to the people and I suppose it will pass," said Director Bigelow yesterday.

"If the memorial hall project were defeated my scheme or any other could not be substituted, because the law distinctly specifies the character of the memorial. It provides that it shall be a hall and shall cost not to exceed $1,250,000, the taxpayers of the county to be assessed to pay for it. I still think as I did before that a granite column would be much more imposing and more appropriate."

AMENDED CERTIFICATE FILED.

Prohibitionists Comply With the Requirements of the State Department.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—The Prohibition state committee today filed an amended certificate for Judge John Stewart of Chambersburg, its nominee for judge of the supreme court. The original certificate filed for Judge Stewart by the Prohibitionists after the withdrawal of John D. Gill of Greensburg, was rejected by the state department because it was not in proper form.

The filing of the certificate completes the state ticket for this year's election and the form of the official ballot will be certified by the department tomorrow to the county commissioners throughout the state for printing. Judge Stewart is the nominee of six parties—Republican, Democratic, Prohibition, Independence, Citizens and Lincoln.

Congregationalists Meet.

The semi-annual meeting of the Pittsburgh Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers was held yesterday in the First Congregational church of McKeesport. Moderator W. F. Slade of Braddock opened the session and the welcoming address was delivered by Prof. E. B. Boyd of the McKeesport schools. The Rev. B. G. Newton of McKeesport preached the closing sermon last evening.

Oh! Pshaw—The Expo closes Saturday night and I haven't been there. Guess I'll go down and hear Sousa, and Miss Schiller, the soprano, tonight.

TEACHERS TO BE TAUGHT.

Pedagogical Section of Academy of Science and Art Holds First Meeting.

The pedagogical section of the Academy of Science and Art held the first meeting of the season of 1905-5 last night in the Fifth Avenue High school, where the meetings will be held until the Carnegie Institute is finished.

Papers were read as follows: "Value of Psychology to the Teacher, by Dr. E. B. Hughey, professor of psychology at the Western university; "Value of Method in Teaching to the Teacher," by Prof. T. M. Dysart, professor of physics in the Pittsburgh High school; "Value of the Study of Education to the Teacher," by Prof. J. C. Armstrong, principal of the academic department of the Pittsburgh Academy.

The council of the pedagogical section has decided to take up the study of history of education this season and therefore all school teachers are urged to join. It is declared that membership in the pedagogical section will help the teacher to self culture and cannot but be a great aid to the acquisition of knowledge in the profession of teaching. Meetings are held on the third Tuesday of every month.

DEFECTS IN FANS.

Engineer Thomas H. Johnson Says American and European Designs Are Behind the Times.

Following a paper read by Thomas H. Johnson on "Centrifugal Fans" at the monthly meeting of the Engineers' society of Western Pennsylvania last evening, there was a prolonged discussion of the methods of supplying pure air to tunnels. Mr. Johnson stated that the English and American engineers have been left far behind by the engineers of continental Europe. He denounced the practice of placing the supports of the fans, on the ground that it interfered with the free movement of the air.

R. A. Cummings suggested that in tunnel ventilation it might be possible to imitate a natural shower, the air being clarified by jets of water, but Mr. Johnson said this would be impracticable on account of the great amount of water necessary. The use of fans in the tunnels through the Alps and the conduit system used in the Paris subways were discussed. Five new members were elected last evening.

GOES BACK TO JAIL.

Italian Spends Month in Institution, is Tried and Acquitted, but is Sent Back.

After lying in jail for over a month, then tried and acquitted, Giovanni Corsilia was held in the court house yesterday after his acquittal until a similar charge was made against him and he was sent back to jail. Corsilli was detained by the County Detective Robinson until information charging Corsilli with false pretense was made before Alderman Toole. He was recommitted to jail by Alderman Toole.

Corsilli formerly conducted a store in McKeesport which was extensively patronized by the Italian colony there. He was charged with negotiating a number of loans, ranging from a few dollars to $400 by representing that he owned $8,000 worth of property in Italy. He was sent to jail on September 13. He is charged before Alderman Toole with getting $34 from Antonio Lombardi on the strength of the story about owning land in Italy.

RODRIGUES' FIRST RECITAL.

Is Given at the Conservatory of Music to a Large Audience.

The first song recital by J. L. Rodrigues, a recent addition from New York to the singers of Pittsburgh, was given last night in the Conservatory of Music before a large and discriminating audience. Mr. Rodrigues was assisted by Mrs. A. C. Schiller, soprano, and Hollis E. Davenny, violinist. Miss Vera Wilson and Charles W. Cadman were the accompanists.

Mr. Rodrigues' singing covered a wide range, including selections from Schubert, Tschaikowski, Halevy, Mozart and Flogier. Mrs. Schiller sang a number of songs, showing her fine voice and technique, and Mr. Davenny played several selections in his well-known style.

IRVING'S BODY WILL LIE IN THE POET'S CORNER

LONDON, Oct. 17.—A spot beside Garrick's grave in poet's corner, Westminster abbey, has been selected for the burial of Sir Henry Irving, whose body will therefore lie directly beneath the statue of Shakespeare. The bodies of Dr. Johnson and Charles Dickens are nearby. King Edward will be represented at the funeral. Twelve hundred cards of admission to the abbey will be issued. The body will be cremated before burial.

SHUN THE ALLEGHENY THIEVES OR POLICE WILL CATCH YOU

In the bookcase behind Magistrate Samuel Abernathey's desk at Central station is a Bible. Before the first prisoners were brought out yesterday the judge, in a moment of abstraction, took out the Bible and blew the dust from its covers. Evidently he came upon something in the Psalms about the man "who walks not in the ways of the ungodly," or, "who sitteth not with sinners."

The germ implanted unconsciously upon the mind of the magistrate took root and bore fruit, for the first man called before him was the victim of a new idea in North Side police management. He is James Costello, who was arrested by Detective Johnson in the First ward. On the docket appears this evidence, sworn to by Johnson:

"This man associates with thieves."

In brevity it is a gem, and as conclusive of the man's unfitness to impose himself longer upon society it was effective, for, in funereal tones, the magistrate decreed: "Ninety days to the workhouse."

Moral—If you see a thief in Allegheny, dodge him.

Who Gets the Most Out of Life?

Not the wealthiest, not the most learned, nor the idler—but the man who has good health and works for his living. This truth is trite, but not trivial.

Every man should guard his health as his most valuable possession. The more so because health is easier to retain than regain.

Keep your grip on health by regular exercise, reasonable care in eating and requisite sleep. Take Beecham's Pills occasionally, to tone the stomach and keep the liver and bowels in good working order. And don't worry.

Observe these simple rules and you will agree that the one who gets the most from life is

No other rug of domestic manufacture equals them in wearing qualities. We show these rugs in Iran and Serebend designs, especially adapted for hall and stair furnishment—also in the two-toned or self-colored effects, so desirable for parlor or drawing-room. Then there are the Oushak and Afghan designs, many other Oriental patterns suitable for library or dining-rooms.

We do not know of any rug of moderate cost more satisfactory in point of wear or more pleasing in effect than Saxonys.

We can supply them in almost any size.

PLUMMER WILL RUN AHEAD OF THE TICKET

Chairman Hicks of Blair County Makes a Prediction. Republicans Aroused.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 17.—"Lee Plummer will run 500 votes ahead of the ticket in Blair county," declared ex-Congressman Josiah D. Hicks of the Blair county Republican committee, during a visit to Harrisburg today on legal business.

"I mean what I say," continued Mr. Hicks. "Plummer will poll 500 more votes in Blair county than Judge Stewart, or any of his colleagues on the Republican ticket. The reason is simply that Mr. Plummer is a Blair county man, and the people there know him. They mean to show that they have the utmost confidence in him by giving him such a vote as will show beyond the shadow of a doubt just how he stands with his neighbors.

"Republicans have become thoroughly aroused and I look for a larger vote than usual in 'off' years. Just you watch the returns from Blair county on election night and you will find I have made no mistake in my prediction."

CLAIM MONEY WAS USED IN THE TAGGART CASE

Amendment to a Motion for a New Trial Is Filed at Wooster. Set Forth New Pleas.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WOOSTER, O., Oct. 17.—Attorneys for Mrs. Grace Taggart late tonight filed the following amendment to the motion for a new trial of the case in which Judge Eason granted a divorce and custody of the children to Capt. Elmore Taggart:

First—That the plaintiff, together with paid agents, during the trial of the case and for a long time prior thereto, employed money and other available influence in molding public sentiment against the defendant, and attempted thereby to bias the court, and obtain a decree against the defendant, all of which was contrary to good government and known rules of legal proceedings, and the honest administration of justice.

Second—Because of irregularity of the prevailing party and the court in this: During the pendency of the trial and before the termination of the same, the prevailing party submitted to the court and the court received and accepted evidence not offered and produced in the trial, suggestions and arguments not made in open court, and not in the presence of the defendant, and against which the defendant could not contend and by means of which the defendant was prevented from having a fair trial.

Third—Because of the bias and prejudice of the court against the defendant in said trial, which bias and prejudice was so great as to lead the court to wholly disregard any of the evidence offered by the defendant against the plaintiff, and in support of the claim of the defendant.

Fourth—Because said judgment and decree was given under the influence of prejudice and passion on the part of the court.

More than 100 leading residents of Wooster gathered informally tonight at the home of Mrs. Grace Taggart. Addresses were made in which respect and esteem for Mrs. Taggart were voiced. Resolutions were adopted, expressing sympathy for the divorced wife, regret over the decree which has robbed her of her two children and pledging an effort to help her to secure complete control of the two boys. Several clergymen were in the gathering.

BABY'S AWFUL SKIN HUMOR

Doctors and Hospitals Called it Chronic Eczema and Said Sores Never Could Be Healed—Child Was Getting So Bad Mother Didn't Know What To Do.

CURED BY CUTICURA AT EXPENSE OF $1.75

"Words cannot express my gratitude for what Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent have done for my son, who when two years old had Eczema as bad as any child could have it. I had several doctors, but when they stopped treating him his head would begin to get sore again, almost the next day. It got so bad I really didn't know what to do. At last we took him to the hospital, where the doctors said he had Chronic Eczema. They gave me a wash for it, but said it was foolish to think of it ever being cured.

"The child was failing so I thought I must do something, and reading about Cuticura, I went to the nearest drug store and purchased a set of Cuticura Remedies. I used half of it and found some relief and improvement, but thought the change for the better was only temporary, as it had been with all the other medicines ordered by the doctors. But by the time I had used one and a half boxes of Ointment, one small bottle of Resolvent, and one cake of Soap, the cure was complete and permanent, with not a sign of a sore from that day to this,—over two years. I shall never be without Cuticura Soap, I find it so good for the toilet and for the children.—Mrs. J. Schepperle, 218 Frost St., Brooklyn, N. Y., Feb. 9, 1905."

Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor, from Pimples to Scrofula, from Infancy to Age, consisting of Cuticura Soap, 25c., Ointment, 50c., Resolvent, 50c. (in form of Chocolate Coated Pills, 25c. per vial of 60), may be had of all druggists. A single set often cures. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston.

Something never seen equaled—in fine goods for the money.

Lupin's genuine all wool $2.50 Black French Zibelines, 48 inches wide, 60c.

This case of goods was never opened—just as it came from Europe last season.

Fashion decided against Zibelines—and the Importer carried them over and we bought them a few days ago at the greatest sacrifice fine Black Goods were ever bought.

coat suits

There was strong intimation early in the season that short coat suits for women would supersede the long ones, but as the days wore on, the long ones gained greater prestige and now their sway is stronger than ever, although there are many women who insist upon Short Coats and for these we have also provided liberally and well.

We show a collection of Black and Colored Broadcloth and Cheviot Long Coat Suits—new shades and new models—also late fashionable mixtures made up according to Fashion's latest dictum, that those who are interested better see.

The quantity and variety alone should be of interest but we add to that inducement the further advantage of superior tailoring and materials at the several prices—$13.50 to $125.00.

FILES CHARGES AGAINST OURSLER

Captain in Fourteenth Regiment Gets Orders to Appear Before Court of Inquiry.

FORMER PRIVATE'S STORY

An order signed by Maj.-Gen. Miller, commanding the Pennsylvania division of the National Guard, directing the convening of a court of inquiry to be held in the Fourteenth Regiment armory, Pittsburgh, on October 25, to hear testimony on charges preferred by Herbert E. Arthurs, formerly an artificer in Company I, Fourteenth regiment, against Capt. Howard B. Oursler, captain of Company I, was issued yesterday. The detail for the court is Maj. John C. Dunkle and Lieut. L. H. Johnson of the Fifth infantry.

Arthurs is a carpenter and lives in Mifflin way, Wilkinsburg. He was connected with the National Guard of Pennsylvania for five years, receiving his discharge papers last March. When seen last night he said his charges against Capt. Oursler embraced the padding of a muster roll, the destroying of state property and the altering of official papers after they had been signed by the colonel commanding the Fourteenth.

Concerning the first charge mentioned Arthurs says that at the annual inspection three men who were not members of Company I were introduced at the last moment to take the places of three who had left the city. One of the men is said to be in California, a second in New York and the third has not been heard of for several months.

On the charge of destroying state property, Arthurs stated that previous to the inspection Capt. Oursler took an overcoat which was the property of Company F, and endeavored by the use of ink to efface the marks of identification, and that failing in this he ripped out one of the sleeves.

Of the third charge, that of altering papers after their signature by the officer commanding, Arthurs says that in March last, when he applied for his discharge, Capt. Oursler issued papers in which the date of Arthurs' enlistment was written as being in 1905 and the date of his discharge 1903, thus making his date of discharge three years previous to that of his enlistment, and that after the signature of the colonel of the regiment had been attached Oursler erased and changed the dates.

Capt. Oursler, when called up on the telephone last night, said he had heard charges had been preferred, but had no idea of their nature, though he expected to receive a copy in time to prepare for the court of inquiry.

STATE LODGE MEETS IN BI-ANNUAL SESSION

Representatives of Ladies and Knights of Honor of Pennsylvania Gathered Here.

Representatives of 80 lodges of the Knights and Ladies of Honor assembled here yesterday morning in Elks' Hall, Smithfield street and Fifth avenue, in the fifteenth bi-annual session of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. The visitors numbered nearly 100 and were received and entertained by members of local lodges.

Pittsburgh was honored during the day when H. M. Flyns of this city was elected grand protector, the supreme office in the state lodge. Other elections were:

Grand vice protector, Edward Webber, Allentown; grand secretary, Ferd Voelker, Philadelphia; grand treasurer, Lewis Marks, Franklin; grand chaplain, Mrs. L. Hummel, Erie; grand guide, Mrs. Bertha McCune, Braddock; grand guardian, Marie Harman, Mauch Chunk; grand sentinel, A. J. Mitchell, Sharpsville; grand trustees, Morris Schaffner, Erie; L. F. Kellerman, Philadelphia; U. Arbenz, McKees Rocks; supreme representative, Charles Tait, Philadelphia; alternate supreme representative, Morris Schaffner, Erie.

The morning session opened with Past Grand Protector George D. Tate, now supreme secretary, presiding. Addresses of welcome were delivered by representatives of local lodges, while talks were also given by L. B. Lockard, supreme protector, and J. W. Humphrey and Chester Lamberton, supreme representatives. Reports of officers were then heard. Ferd Voelkner, grand secretary, reported that the membership in the state was nearly 7,000 and nearly half of these had been received into the lodge during the past two years. Eighteen new lodges were instituted during that period. Since the last bi-annual session 154 deaths occurred and $156,000 in benefits were paid, while at present there is $6,240,500 worth of insurance in force.

During the evening the visiting delegates were entertained at the Exposition and were accompanied by a large delegation from the local lodges. A large booth was erected in the main hall of the Exposition buildings with lady attendants where information was dispensed and courtesies afforded the visitors. Several hundred ladies and knights of the order visited the buildings during the evening and were identified by special buttons devised for the occasion. Sessions will be held morning, afternoon and evening today in Elks' hall, and it is expected that the convention will conclude this evening.

DISPUTING OVER VALUES.

Testimony Being Taken on Worth of Delafield Property Wanted by City.

John C. Brown, Robert Wardrop, Robert S. Smith, J. H. Harrison and Thomas N. Armstrong, sitting as a board of viewers, are taking testimony in City hall daily on the value of 76 acres of land owned by Miss Mary C. Delafield, adjoining the filtration plant at Aspinwall, taken by the city a year ago. Miss Delafield refused the proffer of the city and the matter was thrown into court.

The property consists of two pieces, one of 21 acres, between the West Penn railroad and low water mark in the Allegheny river, for which the owner wants $5,500 an acre, and the other 55 acres between the railroad and the hillside, which is valued by the owner at $3,000 an acre. Witnesses so far called vary in their estimate of the value of the land in each plot, some saying it is worth $7,000 on the river front, and down to $4,000, while that back toward the hill is estimated at from $1,200 to $3,000 an acre. The attorneys representing the city are contending that the value of the property when seized a year ago should be considered only, and not what it is worth today, when the value may have advanced.

STOPS TRAFFIC IN WAR MUNITIONS

President Roosevelt Issues a Proclamation for Protection of Santo Domingo.

WOULD PREVENT UPRISINGS

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 17.

In a proclamation forbidding the exportation of arms from this country and Porto Rico to Santo Domingo, President Roosevelt today officially indicated that the United States has extended a political, as well as a fiscal, protectorate over the little republic. It is officially stated this step is taken in response to a request from Santo Domingo on the one hand and from the steamship companies, which desire to be relieved of their obligations to transport arms and munition of war as a common carrier.

There have been frequent reports of incipient revolutions, and the American warships now surrounding Santo Domingo have seized a considerable quantity of arms consigned to insurgents. It is the firm purpose of the administration to keep President Morales at the head of the government until after the senate has acted on the pending Dominican treaty, and to prevent his being displaced by any method other than ballot. Here is the President's proclamation:

Whereas, By a joint resolution approved April 22, 1898, entitled "Joint resolution to prohibit the export of coal or other material used in war from any seaport of the United States," the President "is authorized in his discretion and with such limitation and exceptions as shall seem to him expedient, to prohibit the export of coal or other material used in war from any seaport of the United States until otherwise ordered by the President or by congress."

Now, therefore, I, Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States of America, for good and sufficient reasons unto me appearing, and by virtue of the authority conferred upon me by the said joint resolution, do hereby declare and proclaim that the export of arms, ammunition and munitions of war of every kind, from any port in the United States, or in Porto Rico, to any port in the Dominican republic is prohibited without limitation or exception from and after the day of this, my proclamation, until otherwise ordered by the President or by congress.

And I do hereby enjoin all good citizens of the United States and of Porto Rico, and all persons residing or being within the territory or jurisdiction thereof, to be governed accordingly.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

By the President:
ELIHU ROOT, Secretary of State.

EX-ALDERMAN PORTER DIES AT SOLDIERS' HOME

Served as Democratic Leader in Lawrenceville and as Deputy Mayor Under Two Administrations.

William H. Porter, deputy mayor under Mayor Lidell and Mayor Lyon, and an alderman in the Fifteenth ward for 20 years, died yesterday at Marion, Ind. He had been an inmate of the Soldiers' home at Marion for a number of years and for some time had been suffering from paralysis. Porter left Pittsburgh about 19 years ago, but since that time he visited this city on business. He was in the city last winter.

Porter was the acknowledged Democratic leader in Lawrenceville for many years. As deputy mayor he presided at the police hearings at the Twelfth ward police station, and men of Lawrenceville remember him as the most severe magistrate the Penn avenue and Lawrenceville districts have ever known. Although he was unusually severe in dealing with prisoners, it is said he had such a wonderful personality that the men he punished would, with few exceptions, do as Porter wished on election day, and he repeatedly elected himself alderman of the ward.

Porter went to Lawrenceville from Washington county and engaged in the furniture business, and was very successful. When Alderman William Jancey retired from office Porter was appointed to fill the unexpired term, and for the next 20 years had himself elected alderman of the ward. His office was located in Butler, near Thirty-fifth street, and he did such a thriving business he had several constables connected with his office.

In 1891 he engaged in the real estate business, but failed. He then opened a furniture store in New Kensington and later one in Braddock. All his ventures resulted in failure. He then went to the Soldiers' home. Porter was succeeded in office by Alderman Samuel F. Kerr.

Porter is survived by a half-brother, Elijah Sheppard of Allegheny. He was a member of the Knights of the Mystic Chain.

CREDIT MEN WILL BANQUET.

Local Association Will Entertain Officers of the National Body.

The Pittsburgh Association of Credit Men will entertain the leading officers of the national body and delegations from Cleveland, Columbus and Wheeling with a dinner and reception at the Union club tomorrow night. Among those who will be present are National President O. C. Fessenden, National Secretary and Treasurer Charles E. Meek and Former National President J. Harry Trego. This will be Mr. Fessenden's first appearance before a local branch since his election to the presidency in Memphis last June. He is one of New York city's prominent business men and an able orator.

The visitors will reach Pittsburgh tomorrow morning and will be received by a committe, of which Enoch Rauh is chairman.

WILL RAISE $100,000.

Pittsburgh Episcopalians to Contribute Liberally to Missionary Fund.

Pittsburgh Episcopalians are planning to raise $100,000 toward the missionary thank offering which is being prepared for presentation at the general convention to be held in Richmond, Va., in 1907, in commemoration of the 300th anniversary of the founding of the first Protestant Episcopal church in Jamestown, Va., in 1607.

A plea was sent out by the denomination that $5,000,000 be raised throughout the country, and indications are that the response will be double that amount. The diocesan committee on the fund consists of the Rev. Dr. J. H. McIlvaine as chairman; the Rev. Joseph Speers, secretary, and George C. Burgwin, treasurer.

ASPHALT COMPANY AIDED GEN. MATOS

Former President Greene Says It Expended About $100,000 on Venezuelan Rebels.

HE DISPARAGES THE ACTION

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Gen. Francis V. Greene, former president of the National Asphalt Company, was examined today before United States Commissioner Gilchrist as a witness in behalf of the Venezuelan government in the action instituted by the latter against the New York and Bermudez Company to recover about $11,000,000 because of the latter organization's alleged assistance of the Matos revolution in 1901.

My only knowledge, said Gen. Greene, comes from what was told me by Messrs. Mack, Andrews and Sewall. When I returned from Europe in 1901 I was surprised to learn that during my absence they had decided to support Matos in his contest with Castro. I told them I thought they had made a great mistake, because what they had done was not acting in good faith with the state department in Washington, which up to that time, and largely on representations made by me to Secretary Hay, had supported the Bermudez company to such an extent as to enable it to continue in possession of its property.

I told them that, in view of what they had done during my absence, it would be impossible for me to make any further claims at the state department in Washington in behalf of the Bermudez company, and, in fact, I never did after that. I also told them I thought it was a great mistake, because it would cost the company a great deal of money in addition to the amount which they told me they had already expended, which, as I recollect, was in the neighborhood of $100,000, and that the company was not in a position to spend such large sums of money, nor could it accomplish any good results, for in my opinion Matos could not succeed and it would ultimately be known the company had aided him, and this would weaken its position before the Venezuelan government. I told them my own judgment was that the proper policy for the company to pursue was to rely upon the support of the state department at Washington. This, however, they said was impossible.

While I was president of the National Asphalt Company Mr. Mack and his friends controlled a large majority of the stock, and he was also vice president of the company, and virtually in control. The company passed into the hands of a receiver about two months later, and after that time I had practically no voice in the management of the company. My connection with it ended a few months later and for considerably more than three years I have had no connection with the asphalt company of any kind.

The hearing was adjourned to meet in Washington tomorrow.

RATING NEW DRUGGISTS.

State Pharmaceutical Examiners Start Session at the Schenley Studying Examination Papers.

The Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical examining board began at the Hotel Schenley yesterday its work of studying the results of the examinations of applicants to practice pharmacy. The work will be continued at the Schenley until the entire task is completed, which will require the greater part of a month. It is not expected that the announcement of the ratings can be made before the latter part of November.

It was stated yesterday that so far as the board knows there were no Pittsburgh applicants involved in the fraudulent game which the board discovered in Philadelphia, where a man is under arrest for selling the examination questions. The members of the board are: President, Louis Emanuel, Pittsburgh; Charles T. George, Harrisburg; Paul W. Houck, Shenandoah; George W. Davis, Scranton, and W. L. Cliffe, Philadelphia.

CLEARS UP A MYSTERY.

Man Who Disappears from Homestead Dies in California.

A telegram received in Homestead yesterday explained that the 3-year mystery regarding the disappearance of Elmer Mears had ended in death. Mears was formerly a well-known resident, but suddenly dropped out of sight leaving a wife and three children. In spite of vigorous search, nothing was heard of him and he was given up as dead.

The message received yesterday was from Trinidad, Cal., and stated that he had been commander of the lodge of Knights of Pythias there and that he died in the morning. The widow will have the remains taken to Homestead.

Boy Gives False Alarm.

A false alarm was turned in last night from box 727 at Ellsworth and South Highland avenues. The firemen were angry and immediately started a hunt for the owner of the key which was still sticking in the lock. It was found that the key was kept in a drug store near by, hanging on a nail under the counter near the door, and it is thought some boy used it because he wanted excitement.

M'NICHOL'S SON BRAVES A MOB

Stands Undaunted in Doorway While They Call the Senator a Thief.

DURHAM HOME ALSO VISITED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 17.

A mob demonstration which only stopped short of violence to life and property followed the address of Gov. Folk last night. Inflamed by speeches of City party orators a thousand men and boys, followed by a detail of police and a patrol wagon, marched on the Spruce street residence of Israel W. Durham.

The doorbell was rung, but as no one responded the orators of the mob, mounting boxes, began a tirade of abuse against Durham and the other Republican city leaders. They were called "thieves," "grafters" and other names. From Durham's the mob moved on the McNichol residence, in Logan square.

Walter, the 19-year-old son of Senator McNichol, braved the mob, standing in the doorway until it had spent its fury. "Your father is a thief" was howled at the boy from a hundred throats. He did not answer, merely stood quietly and listened. His splendid exhibition of courage probably protected him as well as the family from injury, for the mob made no effort to enter the house.

Senator McNichol said today his wife was ill because of the occurrence and his younger children were badly frightened. The police, he said, could have stopped the rioting, but on the contrary they encouraged it.

Col. Potter, director of the department of public safety, today issued an order directing the police to permit no further demonstrations of this character.

Select Councilman John Klang, of the Twelfth ward, today announced he would no longer support the Republican leaders, but would line up with the mayor. Klang's desertion breaks the three-fifths majority of the organization in the select branch and prevents it from passing any measure over a veto.

George O. Sutherland, assistant director of public health and charities, today resigned owing to impaired health.

A new feature in political campaigning in Philadelphia was the appointment today by William Tilden, chairman of the City party campaign committee, of 39 women, wives of prominent men of the city, to take an active part in the present political battle. They will make a special effort to get out the stay-at-home voters.

A DAY WITH THE THREE S'S.

Sousa at Exposition Will Give Program from Works of Sullivan, Strauss and Sousa.

There was another good turnout of people at the Exposition yesterday, Sousa and his band being the principal attraction.

Yesterday the Association of Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings, and the Knights and Ladies of Honor, were guests of the Exposition society. These two bodies are meeting in convention here this week and accepted a special invitation to visit the Point show and bring their friends with them. Judging from the crowds which surrounded the chamber of commerce exhibit, the headquarters of the convention, not one of the members of their organization missed the opportunity of taking in the "only permanent exposition in the country."

Today at the Exposition is what Sousa terms a day with the "Three S's"—Sullivan, Strauss and Sousa—and during the evening music from these three eminent composers will form the major part of the programs. This afternoon's programs follow.

Men's Club Elects Officers.

The season's first meeting of the Men's club of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Braddock was held last evening in the church parlors. The election resulted as follows: President, the Rev. Charles L. E. Cartwright; first vice president, Harry E. Gwyne; second vice president, Dr. Harry F. Fisher; secretary, Ellis N. Hall, and treasurer, George Phillip Robery.

Millworker Loses His Sight.

Peter Peel of Munhall, an employe of the open hearth department of the Homestead steel works, while looking into a pit in the mill yesterday was caught by an explosion of cinders which threw a mass of molten stuff in his eyes. The sight of both was destroyed and his face horribly burned.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY.

Club Women and Club Life.

Mrs. W. J. Glenn presided at the meeting of the Woman's club of Pittsburgh in the Young Women's Christian association building yesterday afternoon. Only one paper scheduled for the day was given—that prepared by Mrs. Hugo Rosenberg, on "The Ideal Woman's club." Mrs. Rosenberg has set very high yet not impossible ideals for women's clubs and in her paper yesterday gave many practical suggestions. "The Influence of Women's clubs on Home, Society and State" and "Club President and What They Have Accomplished," two other subjects on the program, were combined and discussed in an impromptu manner by different members of the club, the general subject for the day being "Club Women and Club Life." The celebration of the club's thirtieth anniversary is being arranged for by a committee, with Mrs. Robert Coard as chairman, and will probably take the form of a banquet at one of the leading hotels. Tuesday, November 2, is the anniversary date.

Moore-Witherall.

White chrysanthemums furnished the decorations at the wedding of Miss Gail Moore and Frederick W. Witherall, which occurred last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Hamnett in Wilkinsburg. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, the Rev. S. H. Moore, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of New Castle, and a former pastor of the Wilkinsburg Presbyterian church. The bride was given away by Mr. Hamnett. Her gown was of white voile, trimmed with real lace, and the bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Hamnett, as matron of honor, wore gray crepe de chine and carried pink roses. After the wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Witherall will live in this city.

Social Affairs in Oakmont.

Mrs. Clarence Van Dyke Tiers will celebrate the first anniversary of her marriage tomorrow afternoon by giving a tea from 3 until 5 o'clock. The affair, which will also serve as a housewarming for the handsome new home of the hostess in Oakmont, will be followed by an evening card party at which Mr. Tiers will entertain with his wife.

Mrs. Clarence P. Tiers and her daughter, Mrs. William Hepburn Tinsman, both of Oakmont, will give a card party and fancy work at their home on Friday afternoon in honor of Miss Susan V. Tiers, a bride-elect of next month.

Club Has Interesting Program.

The members of the Lawrenceville New Century club discussed the American Revolution at their meeting yesterday, with Mrs. J. J. Covert as their leader. A very entertaining general review of the Revolution was given by Miss Newmont, followed by Mrs. Charles Stewart's talk on "Population and Resources." "Stamp Acts and Taxation" was the subject taken up by Mrs. E. M. Grove, and the usual magazine review included a paper prepared by Miss Riggs on the Athenaeum and the Dial.

Hutchison-McClelland.

Cards have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. James C. Hutchison announcing the marriage of their daughter, Miss Daisy Caldwell Hutchison to James D. McClelland, on Monday, October 16, in Greensburg. Inclosed with the announcements are at-home cards for Fridays after November 20 in Frankstown avenue, Homewood.

TWO WOMEN AND ONE MAN ARE AT GRAVE'S PORTALS

Family of Three in Hospital, Critically Ill—Result of McKeesport Shooting May Be Fatal to Another Besides the Principals.

John Swakoski, his wife and son are lying in cots in the McKeesport hospital, and it is doubtful if any will recover. Mrs. Drucilla Boyd, who lived a few doors from the Swakoskis in Evans avenue, McKeesport, who is suffering from diphtheria, is critically ill, the disease being complicated by the shock caused by Swakoski trying to kill his wife and himself.

Swakoski, who is believed to have been rendered temporarily insane by domestic troubles and worry over the fact that his 14-year-old son was critically ill at the McKeesport hospital from blood poison, made a desperate attempt yesterday noon to kill his wife and then himself. The shooting began at the residence of couple and ended at a pool room owned Swakoski in Fifth avenue, where he shot himself. The cots of the father, mother and son are but a few feet distant from each other in the hospital.

A short time ago Swakoski was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct and since then the trouble between him and his wife seemed to increase. They had frequent quarrels and yesterday the husband followed his wife several blocks to a friend's home, and back again to their own. They had a dispute over a trunk which ended in a chase to the front porch, where Mrs. Swakoski made an attempt to jump 15 feet over the railing to the ground. Revolver in hand, the husband followed her, and as she jumped he fired. One bullet struck her in the breast, the others missed.

The crazed man started down over the hill from his home, believing he had killed his wife. He emptied his revolver at his own head while running, but every bullet missed. Hatless and with eyes staring wildly Swakoski ran half a mile to his place of business, where he reloaded his weapon, and in the presence of Nathan Dantzic and Raymond Nackers, who were playing pool, deliberately placed the gun at his breast and fired. He fell to the floor and one of the men rushed from the place. The other, however, summoned assistance, and, despite Swakoski's pleadings to be killed, he was placed in the ambulance and sent to McKeesport hospital.

After being shot Mrs. Swakoski rose from the ground where she had fallen and ran into the home of Mrs. Drucilla Boyd of Evans avenue, who was in an upper room confined to her bed with diphtheria. Dripping with blood and growing weaker at every step, Mrs. Swakoski staggered into the bedroom of the woman and fell in a faint. She was at once sent to the hospital. Mrs. Boyd's condition is critical as a result of the shock, and she may also succumb.

Swakoski is 34 years old and his wife is 31. Mrs. Swakoski owns a small confectionary store in Fifth avenue, and both she and her husband are said to have plenty of money.

MAKES STATEMENT; TROUBLE FOLLOWS

Molder Tries to Prove How Counterfeits Are Made and Nearly Loses His Liberty.

Lowry A. Barnhardt of Greensburg, who was charged with making counterfeit money, was acquitted in the United States district court, under instructions from Judge Buffington. The government had rested its case and the defendant and one witness had been examined when the court stopped the proceedings by saying to the jury that the defendant had done a very foolish thing, and ordered the jury to return a verdict of not guilty.

Barnhardt testified he was employed as a molder by a firm in Greensburg. One night last November he testified he got into an argument with John Lewis over the manner in which silver coin was made. Lewis said the coins had to be stamped and the defendant told him that he could mold them in sand. Barnhardt said the next day he made two imitation dollars with some other small patterns he was molding. He could see them in new sand out of cast iron and gave them to Lewis. Some time later he made another cast iron dollar which he took home. Barnhardt said Lewis called at his place a few nights after. The cast iron dollar was laying on a stand in the room and Barnhardt testified that after Lewis left the house the coin was missing.

After the verdict was given Judge Buffington told Barnhardt that he had done a very foolish thing and had made a narrow escape. People should understand that they must not make money out of iron, copper or any other metals or material.

"You had better take word back to the molders," said the court, "to let the making of dollars alone to the government."

John Lewis, one of the witnesses in the case was brought by Warden W. McJohnston from the penitentiary to give evidence for the prosecution. At the close of the trial Lewis, who is serving a sentence, was taken back to the big prison handcuffed to a keeper.

A verdict of not guilty was returned in the case of Michael Dalton of Homestead, who was accused of having taken money from the mails in the Homestead postoffice as a stamping and shipping clerk. The jury was out only a half hours. After Dalton was discharged by the court a large crowd of his friends gathered around him in the corridors of the government building and congratulated him on his acquittal. Dalton was accused of having stolen registered and special delivery letters.

W. G. Pearsant, a former clerk in the postoffice at Kipple, Pa., who was charged with embezzelling money orders amounting to $583 11, was fined $100 and costs.

Henry Cole and Martin Cox, who are charged with passing counterfeit silver half-dollars in Cannonsburg, May 2 last, pleaded guilty. While Cole was sitting in the United States marshal's office yesterday he fell from his chair in a fit, but soon recovered.

True bills were returned by the grand jury in the United States district court as follows: Charles E. Brainard, embezzling money order funds amounting to $496 74 from the postoffice at Curwensville, Pa., and Glenn Cunningham, embezzling money orders amounting to office at Charleroi.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed by Oslander & Company and Galey & Lord, of New York, and M. Simon's Sons, of Allegheny, against Wm. W. Hall and Jane A. Boland, trading as Boland & Company, of Pittsburg. Tarasky Bros. & Company, Lundursky Brothers and S. Silverblatt, of Pittsburg, also filed an involuntary petition in bankruptcy against Elean Hakas & Bros., of Monongahela City.

CIVIL SERVICE RULES CHANGED

President Roosevelt Makes Sweeping Amendment to Regulations.

POWER FOR CABINET OFFICERS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 17.—An amendment to the civil service rules, sweeping and comprehensive in its character, was authorized today by President Roosevelt. Hereafter, a cabinet officer will have the power to remove summarily and without hearing any civil service employe in his department who, to the personal knowledge of the head of the department, has been guilty of misconduct, or who is inefficient in the performance of his duties. By the terms of the amendment the cabinet officer must have personal knowledge of the misconduct or inefficiency of the employe whom he proposes to discharge. With this personal knowledge, the power of the head of the department is absolute.

Heretofore, in every case of the removal of a civil service employe, charges had to be filed against the person whom it was proposed to remove, and the employe was given time in which to meet the charges with such defense as he might have to make. Under the authorized amendment, such a proceeding will not be necessary. A head of a department may discharge an employe for misconduct or inefficiency, with the simple statement to the civil service commission that the misconduct or inefficiency is a subject of his personal observation. The discharged employe will have no recourse.

Desired by Cabinet Members.

It is said that the amendment was made at the instance of members of the cabinet, who hold that, under the present construction of the civil service rules they often are unable to deal properly with cases of misconduct and inefficiency of which they are personally cognizant. Assurance is given that the amendment was not made to apply to any particular case now pending. Its purpose, as stated, is to improve the discipline of the departmental forces.

After the amendment had been discussed and adopted today by the cabinet, President Roosevelt issued the following executive order embodying the terms of the new regulation:

When the President or head of an executive department is satisfied that an officer or employe in the classified service is inefficient or incapable and that the public service will be materially improved by his removal, such removal will be made without hearing; but the cause of removal shall be stated in writing and filed. When misconduct is committed in the view and presence of the President or head of executive department, removal may be made summarily and without notice.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

Misconduct of a Chauffeur.

While members of the cabinet frequently have discussed such an amendment to the civil service rules as was authorized today, the subject was brought directly to the attention of President Roosevelt recently by the misconduct of a chauffeur of one of the government automobiles. The driver of the automobile piloted his machine directly in the way of the President's carriage and seemed to take delight in cutting him out of the road.

When the President learned who the chauffeur was he said he ought to be discharged as incapable of operating the machine. The subject was pressed by members of the cabinet and the decision was reached to make the amendment to the civil service rules in order that misconduct of a government employe might be made the cause for instant dismissal.

Shoots Himself Through the Heart.

ROSCOE, PA., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—In the shadow of a tree in the rear of his home at Elco, Clyde Hawkins shot himself through the heart last midnight killing himself instantly. Hawkins, who was the son of a well-to-do business man of Hendersonville, N. C., came here several years ago and after a brief courtship married Miss Della McKennan of Donora.

ALLEGHENY'S TREASURER IS PARTY WATER WAGON

Andrew L. Robinson and Old Maj Washington Create Amusement by Lugging Heavy Cooler Through Streets to Citizens Headquarters.

A multitude of Alleghenians witnessed a funny sight yesterday morning. It was at a time when the cars are packed with people hurrying to their work and many stopped to look and laugh.

City Treasurer Andrew L. Robinson in campaign times is very busy and remarkably active, considering his avoirdupois. Maj. George Washington, the venerable negro elevatorman in city hall, on the other hand, is bowed with age and rheumatism. His gait is slow and painful.

The Wyman party headquarters in Federal street, a block above city hall, was being fitted up and it was discovered there was no watercooler. The big barrel that did service in three strenuous fights had, like the Citizens party, gone to decay. So Treasurer Robinson appropriated one of the big watercoolers in city hall. He likes things done promptly, so he usually does himself all that he can. This fact got him into an amusing dilemma and brought groans from the old major.

The two emerged from the side door of the treasurer's office carrying the big cooler. By the time they got to the corner of North Diamond street both were puffing, and many who saw them thought they had in the cooler the fall supply of ice. Both were about fatigued before they got half way to Kenyon's hall. Mr. Robinson was paddling along quickly, while in the rear of the cooler the pain-racked darkey plodded with crippled steps. Both looked as though they would like to set the thing down on the sidewalk, but, perhaps out of regard for his personal and official dignity, Mr. Robinson hung on and the old major had to follow. The latter served through the civil war and carried a musket many a weary mile, but he never was so played out as when he dropped his end of the burden at the foot of the steps in the Kenyon building. The city treasurer was out breath and perspiring as he has not since the last election. Slowly he walked back to his desk, where he sat in moist comfort until he had somewhat recovered. Old Maj. Washington sat in his elevator all day, wondering at the strange labors that politics impose.

U. of P.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—(Special.)—A serious situation confronts the University of Pennsylvania football team. So serious, indeed, that secret practice was begun on the gridiron. Pennsylvania plays Ursinus tomorrow afternoon, but it is not the cause of the secret performance. The reason for the closed gates is that Pennsylvania is in need of some special preparation for the hard work yet to come. The Harvard game is only three weeks off and Pennsylvania is not in shape yet to defeat the Crimson warriors. The offense lacks the machine-like and powerful action of last year's eleven. This is what the coaches are now working to produce.

Why We Make Some Clothes To Order

"If ready-for-service clothing is so good, what's the need of a custom department?" you ask. A natural query. Think over the men you know. Among them is one who towers a full head above the crowd—another is as broad as he is tall—yet another has extra long legs and an extra short body. Then there are elderly men who always wear the same kind of clothes regardless of fashion-plates, and young men who have certain ideas of their own that are departures from the typical styles. All these we take care of in our Custom Department—and at a cost that is only a trifling advance on the price-mark attached to really fine ready-to-wear clothing.

KAUFMANN'S
"THE BIG STORE"

Why We Mark Our Trousers So Low

A well-made coat and vest ought to wear out two pairs of trousers. We don't care much about the profits on the second pair of pants—the main thing is to keep the customer in the habit of coming to us for all his clothes. That's one reason why we sell for $1.98, trousers in black and blue cheviot cassimeres and fancy worsteds that others mark $2.50. And that's why $3.50 is our price for Trousers in peg-top and conservative cuts, and finer cloths that are $4.50 at every other store in town.

Still finer lines of trousers in imported woolens at all prices up to $10.

THE MEN'S CLOTHES THAT ARE "GOOD FORM" THIS FALL

LIVERIES

Absolutely all-wool fabrics are the only kind of "woolens" ever admitted to our Men's Clothing Department—and every suit and overcoat receives the finishing touch of hand-tailoring. This insures good wear and that retention of the fit and hang of the clothing that are the essentials of style.

TUXEDOS

By giving great orders to the largest and most reliable manufacturers where each garment is individually made and inspected we are able to bring our prices down to the level of the carelessly made and part-cotton clothing which is costly at any price. This is our 34th year in the clothing business.

PRINCE ALBERTS

$10 For These Suits and Overcoats

Add $2.50 or $3 to the price mark and you get the real values. Note the styles—Fall 1905 fashion-plate cuts.

Note the fabrics—the popular Scotch cheviots, cassimeres, tweeds, coverts and worsted weaves.

Note the colors—the greens that are all the go—the grays that have come to stay—and the blacks that are always in it. Tans and olive shades in the topcoats.

Note the quality—good, stout honestly woven American woolens without a trace of cotton in warp or woof.

Note the finish—shoulders, collars, fronts, lapels, buttonholes all showing unmistakable traces of careful hand work.

Finer and finer Garments in the best imported woolens, hand-tailored to the most fastidious taste, at $30—at $25—at $20—with $36 as the top-notch price.

Special Sale White Fancy Vests

When there's an urgent office call for ready cash in some big manufacturing establishment, some man on the road is usually ordered post haste to Pittsburgh—and to "The Big Store." A New York manufacturer whose specialty is $2.50 and $3 white and fancy vests, wanted several hundred dollars so badly and so quickly that he decided to exchange 1,500 up-to-date made-up vests for a Kaufmann check. The garments arrived yesterday—were in strict accord with the samples and this morning we start a great three-day sale whose watch-word shall be "A quick clean-up." More than half of them are white ducks and piques, in the latest correct cut and lengths. The fancy ones are the correct styles in ducks and piques, some in tasteful stripes, some in pleasing checks, some in fetching diamond patterns and others in dainty figures. There are also quite a number in dark silk mixed fancy cloths, very handsomely figured.

All these vests are the styles in vogue this season—a complete line of sizes and plenty of each size, with detachable buttons and all the other good points of high grade garments.

Unitys Make a Clean Sweep in Their First Match of the Season of 1905.

RESULTS OF OTHER GAMES

The Unity and Hazelwood teams of the Pittsburgh section met in their first game of the season last night on the Great Eastern alleys and the Unitys succeeded in winning all three games with comparative ease, as the Hazelwood boys did not show the form they are sure of doing later in the season. The Unitys, as a team, did consistent bowling, being ably supported by the good work of McGrath and Smith. McGrath had high score of 213 and best average of 194 1-3. He was closely followed by Smith with an average of 191. For the Hazelwoods Hunter and Bucher did the best bowling. Scores:

The scores of the Senator vs. St. Vincent game yesterday were incorrect. The Senators did not lose three games and then Ringloff is not a member of the St. Vincents. C. Hahn's name should have been in place of Ringloff. The St. Vincent won two out of three games. Scores:

The May team hereby challenges any team of the Drug league for a series of three games, best two out of three. Call up H. Hoechstetter, 1677 Grant, Bell 'phone.

More than ordinary interest attaches to the games between the Oneidas and the Hurons, members of the Dispatch Duckpin league, on the Wylie avenue alleys, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The Oneidas lead the league, they having won every game so far this season. The Hurons were accounted the strongest five, their good record of last season being cited in support of this claim. There will be on hand at least 200 rooters, and every man-jack of them will be rooting against the Oneidas.

Elaborate preparations are being made for the celebration of the opening of the County Bowling League season in Millvale tonight, when the Millvale team will play the Cecelia aggregation on the Sirlin alleys. A brass band has been hired for the occasion and after a street parade speeches will be made at the alley by Burgess Ed Hickey, manager of the Millvale team; Capt. Gus Visrd, and members of the bowling team. The biggest time and one of the best games in the history of the Millvale alleys is expected.

The Braddock team will meet on Seng's alleys tomorrow night for a practice game. The North Braddock team will meet on the same alleys on Friday night.

The Braddock team of the Monongahela Valley section of the Allegheny County league has the following members: W. B. Benn, president; William Westlake, captain and manager; E. M. Stephens, secretary and treasurer; H. J. Nugent, Fred Bates, T. Reilley, William Barnes, J. Donovan, Ward Brown, P. H. Elston, Mr. McAdams and Ben Seng.

Danny Houlahan of the Millvale Independents will meet Mr. Mauer of the club alleys, in a series of best out of nine games, for $25 a side. Four games will be rolled on the club alleys this evening, beginning at 7:45, and four at Millvale. Should the ninth game be necessary it will be rolled on the club alleys.

Last night on the Club alleys, the Mayer and Kellerman teams clashed for the supremacy of the Friendship two-man summer league. The race ended in a tie. The Mayer team came out on the top by winning three straight games. The feature was the rolling of J. Epping, who had high score of 224, and the splendid average of 201 2-3. The Mayers rolled a good game, but Hergearrader and H. Hungerman were away off. Scores:

MATINEES RESUME ON SCHENLEY PARK TRACK

Racing will be resumed by the Schenley Matinee club on the Schenley park track Saturday afternoon next. Thousands of dollars have been expended by the city in remodeling the half-mile track and building a grandstand, the work beginning last spring and extending through the summer. The improvements are not yet completed, but the track is ready to race on. During the summer the club held its matinees at Monongahela.

Since the last meet on the Schenley park track many members of the club have bought new race horses and much interest is felt by those affiliated with the club in seeing these new ones come together. Members who intend to enter for the matinee on Saturday are requested to send their entries to W. H. Baldeley, secretary-treasurer, 711 Penn building, for classification.

PIRATES ARE BEATEN AT WEST NEWTON

Good Batting and Fine Pitching Characterize the Game of the Barnstormers.

The Pirate barnstormers met defeat at West Newton yesterday, being beaten by a score of 8 to 4. On the strength of the victory the West Newtons are claiming the undisputed championship of Western Pennsylvania, and nobody has lodged a protest. Lefty Campbell and Brown worked as a battery for the winners, and they did heroic service. Campbell gained some experience in the Southern league and at Louisville, and was with Harrisburg this season. Sam Brown was with the Columbus team this season, the champions of the American association, and has been drafted by the Cleveland American league team. The battery not only kept the hits scattered, but did a little wholesome batting of their own, getting four of the 10 hits made off Phillippe.

The Deacon was most savagely assaulted, no less than three home runs being made off his delivery. The hits were clean-cut, as Phillippe gave nobody a free pass. Jones made two home runs and Stauffer made a two-bagger and a home run. West Newton piled up all their runs in the first three innings, and then played on the defensive, holding the Pirates down to one run.

Hans Lobert played third base and missed nothing that came his way, but he failed to get a safe hit off Phillippe. The game was interesting all the way, and the West Newton rooters were wild when it was ended in favor of their team. Score:

ALLEGHENY HIGH SCHOOL BEATS WILKINSBURG

The Allegheny High school eleven defeated the Wilkinsburg High in the second game of the interscholastic league of Western Pennsylvania yesterday on the W. U. P. grounds 5 to 0. Allegheny was outweighed, but the team work was good. Allegheny had four of her regular players out of the game on account of injuries—Capt. Gray, Zurka, Thompson and F. Morrison. The work of the four freshmen, who took their places, Boyd, Hurd, Moore and Brown, was the feature of the game. McDonald ploughed through the line for 5 and 10-yard gains, while Boyd skirted the ends for several neat gains. In the second half Allegheny held for downs on her one-yard line. The line-up:

Allegheny—		Wilkinsburg—
Hurd (Schmucker)	L. E.	Reynolds
Campbell	L. T.	Anderson
Augenbaugh	L. G.	Harris
Young	C.	Haymaker
Harter	R. G.	Scheyler

ALLEGHENY WINS MATCH.

Allegheny Country club won its match yesterday against the Pittsburgh Golf club, 17 to 3. It was one of the Western Pennsylvania Golf association championship series, and played on the Sewickley Heights links. A. K. Oliver and E. E. Giles were the only Pittsburgh club's players to win their matches. Giles, the conqueror of "Chan" Egan, defeated H. M. Byers. Today Oakmont Country club will play Allegheny Country club at Sewickley, and is the big match of the fall schedule. The individual results yesterday were:

Allegheny C. C.—		Pittsburgh G. C.—
E. M. Byers	0	E. E. Giles	1
David Bagter	5	T. K. Laughlin	0
J. F. Byers	0	A. K. Oliver	2

The eight women who qualified yesterday for a cup offered by Edward A. Woods, at the Edgeworth club, were: Miss Bertha Taylor, 93; Mrs. Robert Wardrop, 93; Mrs. R. P. Nevin, Jr., 96; Mrs. O. D. Thompson, 99; Mrs. George E. McCague, 104; Mrs. Martha Porter, 106; Mrs. John Luce, 106; Miss Betty Wardrop, 110; Miss Carol Cochran, 111, and Mrs. Claire Fincke, 113. The pairing is Mrs. Nevin and Miss Porter, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Wardrop, Mrs. Luce and Miss Wardrop, Miss Taylor and Mrs. McCague.

Alex Gourley, professional at the Edgewood Golf club, played phenomenal golf yesterday in a match with A. S. Maxwell. He went around in 33, 36, 69. The best previous professional record was made by Arthur Smith, 67. Gourley had the best previous record for the nine holes, 31, yesterday reducing it to 30. He missed a 3-foot put for 29 at the eighteenth hole. His card was:

Lyceum Expects a Victory.

Coach Bird last night had the Lyceum eleven out for practice on the Pittsburgh College grounds. Two members of the regular team are out of the game for the remainder of the season. McMahon's arm is badly splintered at the elbow and Gillespie's shoulder is seriously wrenched. The muscles in the latter's shoulder have been torn and it will be months before he will be able to use the right arm. Lyceum is optimistic of victory against the Villanova eleven at the Pittsburgh College grounds Saturday.

AIKEN IS COACHING AT KISKI

"Biddy" Aiken, last year's coach of the champion Franklin team, yesterday joined the coaching force at Kiski. Aiken has been assisting in the coaching at W. and J., and will return there within about two weeks. Aiken prepared for college at Kiski and later was captain of a W. and J. eleven.

George Young, quarterback on the Cornell '98, '99 and '00 elevens, is helping out the coaches now at Cornell.

Manager Wicks of the W. and J. football eleven was in Pittsburgh yesterday arranging for the big game with Georgetown, which will be played in this city October 28 at Friendship park. Wicks expects this to be about the hardest game on the W. and J. schedule. "This game is attracting lots of attention in Washington, and you will see about half the town, in addition to the student body in Pittsburgh to witness the game," he declared yesterday.

The salaried representative of W. U. P. is trying to knock W. & J. and everyone else who does not agree with his own narrow views on the local football situation.

"Ling" Moffet, the Pittsburgh Collegians second baseman, is again taking a chance at football. He is playing center on the Indiana Normal school eleven. Moffet is a very promising baseball player.

Coach Lang yesterday "called down" the Westminster team because of a disposition to take affairs entirely too easy. The team has been playing good football, but Lang has noticed what he terms laziness. In practice yesterday the scrubs twice rushed the ball to the varsity goal line, but lost each time on fumbles. Westminster will play at Geneva Saturday.

Ches. Babst, the Shadyside quarterback, is out of the game for at least two weeks with a bad knee, received at Johnstown Saturday. Goff, the right half, has a twisted knee, and McCutcheon and McCoy had wrists.

The Pittsburgh Sophomores want a game for Friday at home. Call up Charlie Duffy, the manager.

The Harvard management has ordered 40,000 tickets for the Yale game. Two years ago the seating capacity of the stadium was 35,000, and 1,500 more seats are planned for for this year's game.

The Exeter football squad is nearly as heavy as Yale's. Twelve men weigh over 150 pounds. One of the candidates, Cooney, weighs 250 pounds. Hart, one of the backs, weighs 190.

PRINCETON TIES HARVARD

Yale Beats Columbia and Pennsylvania in the College Golf Tournament.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Oct. 17.—That in golf as well as in other athletic games upsets are neither infrequent or unexpected was demonstrated today when in the first series for the intercollegiate Golf associations championships the preliminary two matches resulted in a defeat for Harvard, the present title holder. Yale's team beat Columbia's representatives in the morning ground by a score of 11 to 3. Harvard and Princeton, having drawn a bye in the morning round, played over the course in the afternoon, Princeton winning by a score of 7 to 1½ points, while Yale defeated the University of Pennsylvania by 12 to 0. These points were scored on a basis of one for a win and a half point for each hole up, counted on each individual match. Harvard in the past three years has been very prominent in the annual golf championship struggle between the big eastern universities, but the absence of the two Egans and last year's winner, White, weakened the team, hence the defeat.

Today's team match play rounds consisted of 18 holes each, but tomorrow the final between Yale and Princeton will be at 36 holes. The scores:

YALE MEN ARE "GOING STALE"

Coaches Send Regulars to Town After Secret Practice. Ban Is on Zimowski.

FROM THE OTHER COLEGES

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 17.—Careful handling has been found to be absolutely necessary to keep the bigger men on Yale's football squad from "going stale." The unusually hard campaigning which the men have being going through since the middle of September has told on a few of them. Trainer Mack has insisted that a letup is imperative and the coaches are heeding his demand by a compromise. Today the regulars who have borne the brunt of the work were sent back to town as soon as secret practice was concluded. The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to a short, but hard, scrimmage between the college team and the second substitutes, in which play was called off as soon as the former scored a touchdown. Should Pennsylvania's State team prove strong next Saturday Yale will try out on them some of the new formations which worked fairly well in today's secret practice against the second eleven.

The faculty's strictness with athletes was felt today in the announcement that because of a slight scholarship deficiency Zimowski, a promising candidate for fullback, cannot train with the varsity team. He will probably be allowed to work on the scrubs as a matter of exercise and to help to develop the final eleven. The coaches took Jones, quarterback; Levine, fullback, and Flinn, halfback, out this morning for special drill. Jones is brilliant as a runner, but his handling of the ball from snap back is not perfect.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—Playing with exceptional life and driving their opponents all over the field, the Harvard varsity eleven piled up three touchdowns this afternoon in 17 minutes of practice against the second eleven. It was the finest exhibition of football given this season by Captain Hurley's men, and indicated that the eleven can play fast football if it cares to do so. The second eleven was strengthened especially for the scrimmage by some of the old warriors. In the first five minutes of play Coach Reid and his assistants kept off the field of battle, and in that period lightning attacks, cleverly directed by Quarterback Starr, enabled the varsity to secure one touchdown. Then Reid, Keenan and other instructors went after the men, and the work that followed amazed Reid himself.

Capt. Dan Hurley, who was jogging around the field, looked happy, and at the conclusion of practice said that the Crimson stock was booming. The second eleven made a first down once and on two occasions only was the varsity forced to give the ball up on downs.

Jim MacDonald, '06, was declared eligible this afternoon and when Reid heard the news he immediately played him on right end on the varsity.

W. U. P.

With the exception of Rice and Zieg, who are at present on the hospital list, the entire W. U. P. squad turned out for three hours of practice yesterday afternoon at Exposition park. Rice still feels the effect of the severe shoulder bruise which he received last week, but he may be in shape if he is needed in the Cornell game. Zieg, however, is badly crippled and his case demands absolute rest. Moose yesterday gave the men another long period of signal drill. The presence of Capt. Thompson in the line-up has noticeably steadied the team and the plays are rapidly nearing perfection. There was no actual scrimmage work yesterday.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—Only six of the regulars appeared in the varsity line today, while the other players were given a rest. Ryan Carothers has recovered from his injury to his knee and was in again in the line-up at center. Owing to sickness Tenney, the quarterback, is also out of the game on account of a game leg. McCormick was kept busy the entire afternoon under the direction of Coach Baird, who is drilling the fullback in the part of punting. The scrubs, for here after, will be known as Jennings' the Philadelphian, who has played a steady game. He is suffering from an injury to the spine and will not likely be seen on the gridiron again this season. The practice of the Tigers today was unusually long and devoted chiefly to defensive work.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL.

The Braddock association football team of the Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio league held its first day's practice of the week and all the boys showed up in fine form, especially the forwards. The boys are all anxious to be in trim for Saturday's game with Jeannette and they consider the glass boys to be a strong factor in the race, as they have not lost a game so far.

The Monongahela and Roscoe teams are tied for first place, each having a clean record. In the standing two points are given for a game won and one point for a tie game. The standing now is as follows:

	W.	L.	Tie	For	A.	Pts
Monongahela City	2	0	0	6	1	4
Roscoe	2	0	0	4	1	4
Jeannette	1	0	1	4	2	3

Columbia Faculty Nails Rumor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Rumors that the Columbia faculty would remove the ban on Starbuck and Carter, the disqualified football players, was discredited tonight by an official statement of the faculty representative. Neither of these men will be allowed to represent Columbia again this season, and Capt. Thorp will under no circumstances be allowed to re-enter any department of the university.

SHORT SHRIFT FOR WILLIAMS

Jury Quickly Finds Negro Guilty of First Degree Murder for Killing Wife's Mother.

SOPHIA SCOTT TO BE TRIED

John, alias "Bud," Williams was found guilty in the first degree of the murder of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Mamie Quinsey, at her home, 1206 Locust street, Allegheny. The verdict was returned about 5 o'clock, the jury having deliberated about three-quarters of an hour. Williams exhibited little concern while the jury was being polled, and when the foreman concluded, started to carelessly walk back towards the corridor leading to the jail.

Williams, in his own behalf, admitted the killing, but said he was under the influence of liquor and could not remember the causes that led up to it. The defense would have been satisfied with a verdict of second degree.

Sophia Scott, charged with shooting her father at Leetsdale, will be placed on trial for murder today. Considerable mystery surrounds the case. Scott was found dead with a bullet wound in his stomach. It was first blamed on robbers, but later the daughter was charged with the crime. Attorneys T. Mercer Morton and Ralph C. Davis represent the defendant, while John S. Robb, Jr., will have charge of the state's case.

Nan McLain did not appear when her case against former Supt. C. S. Howell of the West Penn hospital, Superintendent of Detectives Thomas A. McQuaide and Detective Henry Hutchinson was called, and the court granted a judgment of non-suit. The plaintiff was a nurse in the West Penn hospital and Supt. McQuaide's services were sought in the recovery of a couple of rings which had been missed at the institution.

Denies Plaintiff Was Arrested.

The plaintiff was not arrested, McQuaide says, but she averred false arrest in her suit for damages. McQuaide says the plaintiff was at his office, but that her presence there was merely in line with the detectives ascertaining everything possible to aid them in their work.

An interesting state of affairs is revealed in the commissioner's office in the divorce case of Ella McGuigen against Charles J. McGuigen, a passenger conductor of the Pennsylvania railroad. Mrs. McGuigen charges her husband with desertion and avers that since Thanksgiving day, 1902, he has not eaten a meal at home, although he still resides there. She says at their Thanksgiving dinner he told her his sister was coming and that her husband got sulky when she refused to occupy the same sleeping apartments with her. Mrs. McGuigen says she refused because she feared she might contract a throat trouble from which her sister-in-law suffered. Her husband left for work that night, slamming the door, and since then has occupied a separate room and has acted, she says, as a roomer instead of a husband. She says he has not spoken to her except once since the date she alleges he deserted her, and has given her no money since November 12, 1902. She says they were married in April, 1894, and have since resided in Auburn street, Pittsburgh.

The commissioner's report in the case of Ida G. Edson against Earl W. Edson shows that the libellant charges her husband with infidelity. One witness testifies that Edson took a woman to Cascade park, near New Castle, and Edson asked the witness not to tell what he had seen.

Suit to set aside a sale and place the Pittsburgh Boat Company in the hands of a receiver was instituted by the Duquesne Cycle Company, which claims to be a creditor of the defendant company. It is alleged the sale was fraudulent. H. O. Price, manager of the company, is also named as a defendant.

Decides a Complicated Case.

Judge Frazer filed an opinion in the equity suit of William K. Given against J. D. Sands and wife, an action to have the defendants declared trustees for the plaintiff of a fund in the hands of Sands resulting from the sale of realty conveyed by the plaintiff to Sands upon her advancing money to pay a note of $2,000. The defendants answered and Sands filed a cross-bill against the plaintiff and John M. Given, in which he asked that the fund in his hands be credited upon a joint indebtedness of himself and the Givens resulting from the failure of a company in which they were the principal stockholders and whose notes they lifted. The joint net liability was $13,973 the court finds. The property of the plaintiff was conveyed to Mrs. Sands and managed by Sands, who sold it for $9,750. After paying the amount advanced by Mrs. Sands, taxes, liens and repairs, a balance of $2,142 remained. The court finds that John M. Given has overpaid his share of the joint indebtedness by $1,667 and Sands by $2,822, and that the plaintiff has made no payments on his share. The court directs that the fund in dispute be applied to the account of the plaintiff's share of the indebtedness, and, as that share exceeds in amount the fund held by Sands, he is entitled to retain and apply the same on account of that indebtedness, as prayed for in the cross-bill. The costs are divided.

Six alleged members of the notorious "Red Onion" gang of Soho—William Martin, Martin Tumlin, John Edwards, Thomas Tempelton, Patrick Brown and Martin McDonnell—were tried in criminal court before Judge McFarlans on a charge of felonious assault upon Emanuel Wells, a negro. The case was on trial all day, and the jury returned a sealed verdict shortly after court had adjourned.

Loses Part of His Skull.

The men, it is alleged, assaulted Wells, one of them striking him on the head with a beer bottle, fracturing his skull badly. Wells was in the hospital nearly six months, and had a large piece of his skull removed. The defendants claim Wells attacked them with a razor during a fight in a saloon, and that an outsider struck Wells with the bottle. James Hamilton, also known as James Taylor, is also indicted for the assault, but was not tried on account of being ill at his home.

John H. Micklish was declared a lunatic without lucid intervals, and the Fidelity Title and Trust Company was appointed committee of his estate.

George S. Knox sues the Rosenthal company for $5,000 damages. He avers the company made an error in some purchases of his wife's, and when he went to see about it he was assaulted and thrown into the street by the company's employes.

C. A. Poe sued the Peoples Coal Company for $1,000 damages. He avers that a barge of the company was tied to a tree on his property on the Ohio river at Glenfield, and that the tree was uprooted and the support to his land carried away.

Aiken-Fisher.

At the wedding of Miss Margaret Aiken and Chester G. Fisher last evening the bridal party marched to the strains of Lohengrin played with chimes and a harp. The marriage was solemnized at 7 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Aiken, in North avenue, Allegheny, by the Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, pastor of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church. Mrs. John R. Grabowsky was her sister's matron of honor, and Miss Nan Woodhull of Brooklyn, N. Y., with Miss Natalie Cornwall of Bridgeport, Conn., served as bridesmaids. Edwin Fisher attended his brother as best man, while the ushers included Harvey N. Dauler and Dale C. Jennings. The bridal gown was an exquisite creation of white satin, with duchesse lace yoke and bertha. It was tucked into princesse effect and cut with a court train. A long tulle veil was worn, while a pearl necklace, a gift from Mrs. Grabowsky, and a diamond brooch, Mr. Fisher's gift, were the bride's only ornaments. Her bouquet was of white orchids showered with lilies of the valley. Mrs. Grabowsky's gown of white lace hung over rose lavender silk, was made en princesse with a V-shaped neck and elbow sleeves. She carried a cluster of huge, ragged chrysanthemums in the prevailing colors, lavender and white. The maids, each in a gown of lavender chiffon, fashioned the same as that of the matron of honor, carried armsful of white chrysanthemums. Mr. and Mrs. John C. Fisher and Mr. and Mrs. Aiken, parents of the couple, received with them after the ceremony, Mrs. Fisher wearing a white lace princesse robe and Mrs. Aiken one of Irish lace. The decorations were particularly beautiful. The hall was profusely trimmed with southern smilax, and through the drawing room and the adjoining den, where the ceremony was performed, were quantities of palms, smilax and asparagus. As a background for the bridal party the mantel was banked with maiden hair ferns, the fireplace was filled with ferns of a long-fronded variety, and above the white satin prieu dieu was an arch of asparagus plumosa and clusters of lavender and white chrysanthemums. The same flowers filled the standards from which the arch sprung. At the same height another arch, which marks the dividing line between the drawing room and the den, was covered with asparagus spring-erii. Brass standards of chrysanthemums were used in the drawing room, where the massive gold mantel cabinet, reaching to the ceiling, was done in greens. The bridal table was placed with covers for 21 in the library on the second floor and had as its centerpiece a heart-shaped mound of chrysanthemums in the two prevailing colors. Smaller tables were placed in the dining room and on the porch, which was enclosed with screens. After an eastern and southern wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Fisher will return to Pittsburgh to be at-home in North Craig street, on days after January 1.

Sunstein-Wolf.

At the supper following the marriage of Miss Daisy Sunstein and Frederick Wolf in the Concordia club last evening a huge satin wedding bell was suspended over the centerpiece of yellow chrysanthemums on the bridal table. From the bell to each place were stretched white satin ribbons lettered with the name of each guest. At the close of the dinner these ribbons were pulled, the bell was opened and a shower of rice and confetti descended upon the guests. The Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy officiated at the marriage at 6 o'clock. Miss Sunstein having as her attendants a sister, Mrs. M. Feuchtwanger, as matron of honor; Miss Stella Fink, a cousin, from Detroit, as maid of honor; and Miss Maud Rosenheim of Philadelphia, Miss Tillie Sunstein, a sister; Miss Claudia Siesel, Miss Amy Falk, Miss Elsie Trauerman and Miss Edna Kerngood, as bridesmaids. The men in the party were Oscar Wolf of Los Angeles, Oscar Siesel of New York, Sidney Siesel, Meyer Sunstein, Elias Sunstein and Leon Sunstein, brothers of the bride, and Dr. Noah Sunstein of McKeesport, a cousin. A feature of the decorations was the shading of the hundreds of electric lights throughout the club house. Each globe was covered with a yellow floral shade, those shading the walls in the ballroom having daisies peeping through the petals. The aisle for the bridal party was formed by wicker gates and fences flanked on each side by tall standards of yellow chrysanthemums. The chandeliers were heavy with smilax and particularly attractive was the festooning of asparagus plumosa from the large central chandelier to the sides and corners of the room. The stage was banked with palms and from it, reaching out over the bridal party, was a canopy of smilax edged with bells. On all the tables in the supper room were candelabra with hand-painted bead-fringed shades. The parlor and library were adorned with bunches of yellow chrysanthemums and mantel bankings of ferns. A dance followed the ceremony and during the evening Mr. and Mrs. Wolf left on their wedding trip. They will be at home, upon their return, with Mr. and Mrs. Cass Sunstein, parents of the bride, in Fayette street, Allegheny.

Colvin-McEwan.

Master George Colvin and Master William McEwan, sons of the bridal couple, served as ribbon bearers last evening at the wedding of Mrs. Eleanor Fulton Colvin and the Rev. Dr. William L. McEwan. The only other attendant was Dr. McEwan's sister, Miss Sally Rodes McEwan. It was a simple little wedding, taking place at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. George P. Fulton, in Mellon street, East End. The bride wore a beautiful lace robe and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley, while Miss McEwan, in a simple toilette of white, carried white roses. The Rev. Dr. W. S. Fulton, pastor of the Point Breeze Presbyterian church and a cousin of the bride, was assisted in performing the ceremony by the Rev. Dr. Robert Christie of the Western Theological seminary, brother-in-law of Dr. McEwan. The dainty little drawing room where the ceremony was performed was unadorned save for a cluster of pink roses on its white mirror-topped mantel, the roses matching in color those which bordered the panels on the wall. The same flowers were used on the table in the dining room. After the wedding supper Dr. and Mrs. McEwan left for a trip to Kentucky and Virginia, and upon their return they will be at home in South Negley avenue, having announced Tuesday after November 15 as at-home days. The wedding, although of the simplest, was exceedingly interesting. The bride is a daughter of the late George P. Fulton, who was for many years principal of the public schools of the Nineteenth ward, and for whom the Fulton school was named. She is a cousin of Judge Robert S. Frazer. Dr. McEwan has held the pastorate of the fashionable Third Presbyterian church, this city, for the past 11 years.

Wedding Is Rehearsed.

The wedding of Miss Mary Beggs Bailey, daughter of Mrs. Madison Bailey, Jr., and Frederick James Lidstone will take place this evening at the family home in Bailey avenue, Mt. Washington. The rehearsal for the wedding preceded a dinner of 15 covers given last evening by the mother of the bride-elect. The guests were Mrs. Fred Moore of Meadville, the matron of honor; Miss Eva Holland and Miss Isabel M. Bailey, bridesmaids; George H. Lidstone, best man; Madison Bailey and James Hamilton, the ushers, with Miss Margaret Hogan of Niles, O., and Miss Jessie Cooper of Chicago. White chrysanthemums and blue maline carried out the colors chosen for the wedding. Miss Bailey's gifts to her maids were dainty white fans, while to his best man and ushers the bridegroom presented cuff links.

Doran-Kerr.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Doran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Doran of Franklin avenue, Wilkinsburg, and George A. Kerr of Brooklyn, N. Y., was solemnized yesterday morning at St. Agnes' Roman Catholic church, Wilkinsburg, Father A. A. Laubing, the pastor, officiating. The bride was given away by her father and was attended by Miss Cecilia Kerr, a sister of the groom. Samuel McCarten acted as best man. The bride was attired in a gown of white mousseline, trimmed with baby Irish lace, and she carried a large shower bouquet of bridal roses. Immediately after the wedding breakfast Mr. and Mrs. Doran left for a tour of the eastern states. Their future home will be in Brooklyn.

Reception for Son's Bride.

Mrs. David McCormick and her daughter, Miss Sophia Grant McCormick of Howe street, have invitations out for a large reception which they will give at the Pittsburgh Golf club on Friday afternoon, October 27. From 3 until 6 o'clock are the hours for the affair, which is being planned in honor of Mrs. John Shoenberger McCormick, who was Miss Conkling of Springfield, Mass., prior to her marriage in August. She will receive with her mother-in-law and sister, and among those who have been asked to assist are Mrs. Frank S. Bissell, Miss Mary Louise Jackson, Miss Rebecca Shields, Mrs. James Umstaetter, Mrs. James H. McIlvaine, Miss Anne McIlvaine, Miss Edith McIlvaine, Mrs. Robert Townsend, Miss Sarah McClelland, Miss Rachel McClelland, Miss Evelyn Black, Miss Amelia Oliver, Miss Elizabeth Hamilton, Miss Hester Singer, Mrs. James Verner Scaife, Mrs. Wesley Carr, Miss Emma Suydam, Miss Emily Lyon and Mrs. Marcus Acheson.

Wedding Will Be Quiet.

The marriage of Miss Jennie Burnett and Dr. Harry B. Anderson will be quietly solemnized this evening by the Rev. Mr. Ramble of the Ellwood City Presbyterian church. The home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wittmer, in Stratford avenue, will be the scene of the wedding, and only the immediate relatives will be present. The bridal table will have covers for 16 guests, including Dr. Anderson and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Wittmer, Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wittmer, Mr. and Mrs. Xavier Wittmer, Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Bartley, Alexander Burnett of St. Catherines, Canada; Mrs. John Simpson, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ferguson, the Rev. Mr. Ramble and Miss Sadie Cooper. Dr. Anderson will take his bride to Ellwood City to live at the conclusion of their trip.

Afternoon and Evening Receptions.

The handsome new home of Dr. and Mrs. M. A. Goodstone in Millvale avenue received its formal house warming yesterday afternoon and evening. From 2 until 5 o'clock in the afternoon Mrs. Goodstone was at home, informally assisted by Miss Susan Feigenbaum of Cleveland, whose engagement to Maurice Levaur, a brother of the hostess, has just been announced; and by Miss Anna Levaur and Miss Rebecca Levaur, nieces of the hostess. Dr. Goodstone received with his wife in the evening from 8 until 10 o'clock. The guests were welcomed in the drawing room, where white chrysanthemums contrasted with the green walls and hangings of the apartment. Red carnations carried out the predominant color in the hall, while in the mahogany dining-room delicately-shaded pink carnations were used. Yellow chrysanthemums formed the library decorations.

Will Have One Attendant.

[illegible], a sister of the prospective bridegroom, will serve as maid of honor and only attendant at the wedding of Miss Ethel Craig and Charles H. E. Succop, which is set for next Tuesday evening. It will be a very quiet event, taking place at the home of the bride's parents in Rebecca street, East End, at 6 o'clock in the evening. The Rev. Dr. Daniel Dorchester, Jr., pastor of Christ Methodist Episcopal church, will officiate, and after November 15 Mr. Succop and his bride will be at home in North Craig street.

If you are a sufferer from catarrh or deafness, send a 2c stamp to Pretzinger Bros., Chemists, Dayton, Ohio, and they will mail you a sample of Pretzinger's Catarrh Balm, which has been proved by thousands to be a positive cure for all forms of catarrh and its kindred affliction—deafness. Good News to the Deaf

"I would gladly give a thousand dollars if I could only hear well." You hear this remark every day from those who suffer from defective hearing, and yet those who remain deaf have only themselves to blame. At church, in places of public entertainment and at social gatherings the person who is deaf loses all enjoyment.

Geo. P. Way is the man who has made it possible for the deaf to hear. His wonderful invention, THE WAY EAR DRUM, is recognized as the most satisfactory aid to hearing ever perfected.

These drums are scientifically constructed from a peculiarly sensitized material, molded to fit exactly the opening to the inner ear, and are entirely invisible. Mr. Way made hundreds of drums of different shapes and sizes before he got his present perfect drum. Note in the illustration its peculiar shape—exhaustive experiments have proved that unless an artificial drum has these exact curves the sound waves are not caught as they should be. Note again how the drum is narrowed down to a small tube just where it strikes the natural ear drum. This feature alone is most valuable, as it intensifies the sound waves and makes hearing possible even for those who have almost entirely lost all sense of sound. Mr. Way invented this drum after 25 years of deafness in order to cure himself, and all he asks from those who are deaf is that you give him a frank statement of how you became deaf, how long your hearing has been defective, and how much trouble you have with your ears. Mr. Way will be equally frank with you, and will tell you whether or not the Way Ear Drums will help you.

Mr. Way will be in Pittsburgh, at the Hotel Duquesne, for two weeks, October 16 to 28, inclusive. All who are deaf should be sure to call on him, as it will cost nothing to learn whether he can cure you or not.

PRICES AVERAGED LOWER FOR NEW YORK STOCKS

The Coalers and Copper the Only Active Issues to Close at an Advance—Better Distribution of Business in Local Securities

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Prices averaged lower at the close of the New York stock market yesterday, and the tone was heavy, although there were no new developments to account for the rather sudden change from strength to weakness. The volume of business was larger, the sales for the day exceeding 560,000 shares.

At the opening there was some irregularity, but as a rule the strength of a few specialties imparted a fairly steady tone to the entire list. The rate for call loans returned to 5 per cent, and the bulk of the renewals was at that figure. Time money, however, was firmer, and the further advance in sterling exchange, together with the advices received from abroad, not only removed prospects of additional gold exports, but impressed traders with the fact that the money market is still the dominant influence, and that it is likely to continue for some weeks to come. The rate for call loans declined to 4½ per cent at one time during the day, but the final loan was at 5 per cent. Two prominent institutions, one private and the other national, offered call loans rather freely at 5 per cent, but the withdrawal of another large institution from the market as a lender was responsible for considerable comment in the street.

The increased business was the result of activity in a few specialties. Amalgamated Copper was one of the strongest stocks on the list. It advanced from 85 to 86¾, on expectations that the directors tomorrow would increase the rate of dividend. Later in the day it was reported that dividend action would probably be delayed by the absence of a quorum of directors, and the stock reacted to and closed at 85⅝, a net gain of ⅜ per cent. Anaconda Copper closed 4 per cent higher, but Smelting closed ⅝ per cent lower.

In the early part of the day the iron and steel stocks were active and firm, but they subsequently sold off and all closed at small declines. At the meeting of the American Locomotive stockholders two changes were made in the directory, C. C. Coffin, president of the General Electric Company, and E. C. Converse, a director of the United States Steel Corporation, being elected to the board. The street was inclined to attach much significance to the entrance of these gentlemen into the board, but the stock sold off with the remainder of the list and closed at a loss of ¾ per cent. The early strength of Republic Iron and Steel was on a report that the directors were scheduled to meet in the near future to take action looking to a settlement of the back dividends on the preferred, but both common and preferred closed slightly lower.

The gossip relating to the iron and steel trade was of a very gratifying character, one of the rumors of the day being that the United States Steel Corporation had not only cleaned up the market for spot iron, but had made another large purchase from merchant furnaces for future delivery.

The anthracite coalers were the strongest of the railroads, and were the only members of the group to close at net gains. Jersey Central recovered its 2 per cent quarterly dividend and advanced from 219 to 224¾. Delaware & Hudson advanced from 222½ to 226 and closed at 224¾, a gain of 2½ per cent over Monday's close. Reading rallied from 121¼ to 123, but reacted to 121¾ at the close. Pennsylvania closed ¼ lower at 144, and Erie ⅛ lower.

In the standard railroad stocks Union Pacific and St. Paul closed ⅝ lower. Northern Pacific closed 2 per cent lower. Brooklyn Rapid Transit was active all day and closed ¾ per cent higher.

The weakness which developed late in the session was partly ascribed to the 11-point break in Chicago Subway in the curb market, from 62¾ to 41. Immediately following this break there was heavy selling of the general list for Western account, but there was no explanation of the movement in the day's news.

While total transactions on the local board were smaller, the business was better distributed than for some time past. Tonopah Extension was again the leader in point of activity, 1,100 shares selling at $6. A like amount of Ohio Tonopah changed hands at 25c to 26c. Lustre Mining rallied to 3½. The most important dealings, however, were in Pittsburgh Brewing. A block of $53,000 of the 6 per cent bonds sold at 112, a decline of ½ per cent, and more than 600 shares of the common stock sold at 27 to 27⅛. Independent Brewing preferred closed a shade lower at 41¾, while the bonds held steady at 106⅝, $10,000 changing hands at that price. Both the Crucible Steel issues were dull, the common holding firm at 13⅝, and the preferred selling off a fraction at 86¾. National Fire Proofing common was unchanged at 6½. The preferred was moderately active and closed ¼ lower at 22. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas was firmer, selling at 65, but did not hold all its gain. The other natural gas stocks were quiet and barely steady. Pittsburgh Coal preferred declined to 67. A block of 200 shares Union Switch and Signal sold at 85, a decline of 1½ points from the last public sale. There were no transactions in Air Brake or Westinghouse Electric.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The action of the New York market yesterday enforced the opinion that a large waiting speculation is restrained from entering the market only by the exigencies of the money situation. The large supply of funds early in the day at 5 per cent was offered by bankers closely connected with the floatation of the Japanese loan. This led to the inference that the proceeds of the subscriptions paid on Monday were being replaced in the money market. When this supply had been absorbed rates rose again to near the prevailing rate of yesterday. Sterling exchange rose vigorously, and the supposition that preparations for the remittance of Japanese funds were a factor in the exchange market caused a feeling of distrust of the easing effect caused by the placing of these funds in call loan, which, presumably, would be only temporary. Reports were current also of maturities falling due on very large sterling loans, which had to be covered in the exchange market. Cotton and grain bills continued scarce in the market, so that this extra demand is effective in running up the rate toward the gold export point. Gold was marked up further in the London market, and the open market discount rate there rose fairly above the bank rate. Sterling exchange recovered a fraction at Paris, but continued downward at Berlin, the discount rate at the latter point, however, yielding a shade. Heavy retrenchment was shown by the Imperial Bank of Germany's weekly statement. Rates for time money in New York were strong, and the bid for 60-day loans was advanced to 5¼ per cent, with the asking rate at 6⅛ per cent. There were no further transfers of currency to the south through the subtreasury, while from San Francisco there were additional large receipts through that institution.

The largest individual transaction on the Pittsburgh exchange yesterday was the sale by Scully, Painter & Beach of a block of $53,000 Pittsburgh Brewing 6s at 112, a decline of ½ per cent from the last previous sale. H. M. Long, who was a buyer of $50,000 of these bonds last week, took the block sold yesterday. It was the opinion on the board that the buying was for account of the sinking fund established by the company for the final retirement of the bonds. The sentiment is rather bullish on Pittsburgh Brewing common stock, which at current prices is selling on an investment basis of about 9 per cent.

Crucible Steel stocks were less active yesterday than for some days past, the common holding firm and the preferred closing a fraction lower. The annual meeting of the company will be held in Jersey City today, and it will be attended by several prominent stockholders in addition to the officers who will conduct the election. It is understood that an effort will be made to pass a resolution calling for the publication of a quarterly statement, in addition to that issued monthly by the United States Steel Corporation. It is also possible that the directors will be called upon to furnish a complete statement of the Clairton indebtedness and resources at the date it was turned over to the United States Steel Corporation.

At the auction of local securities, for account of whom it may concern, which was held on the Pittsburgh stock exchange yesterday, the prices realized were better than usual on such occasions. The only decline from last previous sales was Union Switch and Signal, which sold at 85, as compared with 86½. Lincoln National bank sold at 250, an advance of $10. Certificates of deposit for Allegheny sold at 525, an advance of $25 a share over the last public sale about two years ago. German National Bank of Pittsburgh sold at 255, an advance of 8s. The sale of Farmers' National Bank of Emlenton at 125 was the first publicly recorded transaction in the stock.

Local sentiment is bullish on the natural gas stocks, but they remain as dull as anything on the list, and yesterday closed barely steady. The recent decline in Ohio Fuel Supply is ascribed to stockholders who recently subscribed for the new stock at par selling enough of the old stock at a high premium to take care of their subscriptions.

North Butte was again an active feature of the Boston copper market. The stock rallied to 57, but sold off to and closed at 54¾ bid.

R. C. Hall sold a block of 1,000 shares Tonopah Extension at 6. Morris, Brown & Co. bought. Mason & Co. sold 500 shares National Fire Proofing preferred, the bulk of which was taken by Sproul & Co.

National Fire Proofing stocks are gradually relapsing into dullness as the short interest is covered, and the feeling prevails that they will ultimately sell lower. Unless the company issues a statement showing the amount of the debt and the present rate of earnings, so that an estimate may be made of the probable length of time the preferred dividend will be suspended. The earnings of the company in 1904 were $638,858. In 1903, a bad year for building operations, they were reported at $1,107,339. In 1902 no detailed report was submitted to stockholders, but the earnings were reported to have been $1,120,958. At the beginning of the fiscal year it was estimated that the capacity of the company's plants would be 1,000,000 tons per annum, and semi-official reports have represented the company to be working its full capacity in some departments. If present activity in the buildings trade continues it might be possible to resume dividends on the preferred stock after one year's suspension, but the street is inclined to believe that the suspension will be for a longer period. However, in the absence of any official information, it is impossible to make a reliable estimate.

The report of the superintendent of buildings of New York city for the quarter ended September 30 shows the number of plans filed for new buildings, including alterations, to have been 3,085, and the total estimated cost $18,179,204. In the corresponding quarter last year the figures were only 888 and $20,558,967 respectively. For the nine months of this year the plans filed for new buildings number 5,427 against 3,813 last year, and the cost $132,169,765 against $84,472,185. It is this activity in the buildings trade, as revealed by official figures, which makes the passage of the National Fire Proofing dividend at this time all the more striking.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Luna Park Company of Pittsburgh yesterday it was unanimously decided to increase the capital stock from $375,000 to $500,000. The additional $125,000 will be devoted to the extension of the park and the securing of new attractions.

In the local curb market Golden Anchor was quoted at 90c bid, 91c asked. Oriental and Maxsate was quoted at 50c bid, 55c asked. Letters have been received in Pittsburgh from Superintendent Probst and workmen on the dredge of the Oriental and Maxsate starting the machinery work shows the surface ground is very rich and becomes more valuable with depth.

It is interesting to note, as reflecting the character of the New York bond market, that the Japanese issues continue to lead in point of activity. Yesterday's dealings in all issues foot up $1,061,600, and of this amount $733,600 consisted of Japanese issues. The day's sales of United States Steel 5s foot up $322,000.

A. Fleming Foll was yesterday elected a member of the Pittsburgh stock exchange.

The census office report to be made public soon will show: Total wealth, $100,000,000,000; population 85,000,000; number of farms, 5,722,657; value of farms, $20,514,000,538; annual produce of farms, $5,000,000,000; annual mine output, $1,419,721,569; annual factory output, $14,370,256,176; value of railway equipment, $6,225,702,333; annual earnings of railways, $1,598,867,896.

Jacob Tidia, who recently has been very prominent on the bull side, is said to be operating for the Morgan interests, who are generally believed to be supporting the market. Strength in the steel stocks, Southern Railway and International Mercantile Marine was taken as reflecting sentiment in this quarter.

United States 2s and the new 4s registered declined ¼ and the new 4s coupon advanced ⅛ per cent on call in New York yesterday.

The bituminous coal trade continues to improve and is now in good shape for the fall-winter months. The improvement in prices will afford the trade a chance before the end of the year to recover from the effects of the low prices of the summer and early fall. There is a greater scarcity of company cars at the mines at some points, but the movement of mines at some points, but the movement of private cars is free. Still, a great deal of coal is coming forward as has been the case, and the output for the year will be much larger than was anticipated a few weeks ago. The loading eastern roads are about 2,000,000 tons ahead of last year.

The Bethlehem Steel Corporation directors met yesterday and declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock.

Surplus after charges and dividends on Northern Pacific for the year ended June 30 was $4,378,321, an increase of $1,450,918.

A private telegram received by Henry Sproul from his New York correspondent yesterday afternoon quoted a prominent member of the governing committee of the New York stock exchange as expressing the belief that the largest speculation and the highest prices ever quoted will be established by Wall street, the second week beginning next month. It will be interesting to watch the fulfillment of this prediction. A month ago, before the money market became the dominant factor, this optimism was very generally held among some of the big operators in the street, but of late bearish sentiment has prevailed, and since the warning uttered at the bankers' convention, the idea of a big bull market this year has been abandoned, the date being pushed forward to the spring of 1906. Yesterday's reiteration of the prediction coming from a respectable source, therefore becomes interesting.

T. W. Stephens & Co. of No. 2 Wall street, New York, are offering for subscription at 100 and accrued interest $1,500,000 of the first mortgage and collateral trust 6 per cent gold bonds of the Whitney Company. The latter is a corporation of the state of North Carolina, formed for the purpose of building and operating a hydraulic-electric power plant on the Yadkin river in the central part of North Carolina. The company has $10,000,000 capital stock and a total bond issue of $5,000,000. Of the latter $500,000 is reserved for future improvements and $1,500,000 has already been sold. Subscriptions for the remaining $3,000,000 will be received by T. W. Stephens & Co., New York; the First National bank, Fort Pitt National bank and German National bank of Pittsburgh; the First National bank of Washington, Pa., and by several banks and bankers in the south. Mr. George I. Whitney of Whitney & Stephenson, the president of the Whitney Company, estimates the value of the properties embraced within the mortgage at $9,000,000. The mortgage is a first lien upon the various lands owned by the company, situated in Rowan, Cabarrus, Stanly and Montgomery counties, North Carolina, footing up about 15,226 acres, and also covers all dams, electric and other machinery, transmission lines and all property of every description owned by the company. The power plant is constructed to develop 40,000 horse power for 12 hours daily, and the electrical equipment will supply 40,000 horse power. From the most conservative data obtainable, President Whitney estimates that "the company will earn $830,000 per annum gross from the sale of electric power alone. Deducting from this the annual operating expenses of $97,000 and $270,000 for interest upon the bonds, there remains a surplus of $263,000 per annum. In addition, further profits will accrue from the sale of lands, granite and mining operations."

Foreign Money Market.

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Money was in good demand in the market today. Discounts were firm. Despite the Bank of England raising the price of gold, French competition continues. It is understood that the Bank of England has secured considerable sums of gold, a continuation of which policy will enable it to meet the requirements of Egypt and elsewhere. There was renewed talk today of the Bank of England's discount rate being raised 1 or 2 per cent, the rise in the money rate anticipated this week. Trading on the stock exchange was dull; irregular and nervous owing to the prevailing uncertainty regarding the monetary outlook, which depressed gilt-edged securities. The tendency was moderately good and business was narrow. Home rails were buoyant on a better tone. Home rails were irregular. Americans opened firm and mostly over parity on New York support. Business was moderate and the movements were slight. Prices closed steady at below the best quotations. Foreigners were sluggish. Favorites were offered. Russians and Japanese were easier. Imperial issues of 1894 were quoted at 98⅞. Consols for money, 81 9-16. Consols for account, 81⅝. Bar silver, firm, 25 11-16d per ounce. Money, 2@3½ per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 4 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three-months' bills is 4@4⅛ per cent.

PARIS, Oct. 17.—Prices on the bourse today were irregular, showing the effect of the foreign monetary tension. At the close stocks were heavy. Russian Imperial fours were quoted at 93.30 and Russian bonds of 1902 at 101. Three per cent rentes, 99 francs. Bank continues for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs. 11 centimes for checks.

BERLIN, Oct. 17.—Prices on the bourse today were still depressed owing to the high rates asked for money. Exchange on London 20 marks 6 pfgs. The rate of discount for short bills 6½ per cent, and three-months' bills 6¼ per cent.

MARKET IS IRREGULAR, STOCKS CLOSE HEAVY

Interval of Strength Is Imparted Solely by the Pool and Clique Operators.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—The Herald will (Wednesday) morning say: Stocks were high, irregular yesterday, closing heavy after an interval of strength, which was imparted solely by the pool and clique operators and professional traders. There was some increase in the volume of business, but activity was concentrated upon comparatively few issues, and the market had the appearance of dullness throughout the session.

The program of the manipulation party was very apparent, and comprised the upbidding of the high-priced anthracite coalers, under the cover of which there was some lightening of business elsewhere in the list. Speculation sentiment continued much mixed. Some reports of liquidation in the market were heard, and the market acted as though some long stock was coming out. The selling, however, was well concealed and executed in a manner which caused no disturbances.

There was very little in the news of the day aside from the developments in the foreign and domestic markets. Some of the railway reports which came to hand were excellent in character, but in the prevailing uncertainty as to the future of the money market developments of this nature were void of influence. The important features in the money market were the further hardening of discounts on the continent, which found reflection here in a very sharp advance in demand sterling exchange.

Possibly the more definite information on the forthcoming Russian loan than has as yet been obtained had some adverse influence on foreign markets. At the last some of the heaviness in the local market was attributed to reports that the break in Chicago subway stock on the curb had done some mischief in stock market circles.

HIGHER PRICES FOR LIMBERGER CHEESE

Butter and Egg Market Stronger. Short Supply of Apples in Sight.

If you eat Limberger you will pucker your face a little more than usual today, for the price on the Dutch delicacy is up. New Limburger and five-pound bricks were put up one-half cent a pound yesterday and dealing at this figure indicated a strong market. Wisconsin Swiss block cheese was also advanced one-half cent. The cheese market in all lines was much stronger, and the advances that went into effect are well sustained. Ohio cream butter was stiffer in price and southern eggs were quoted 1 cent higher. The market was active for both butter and eggs, and dealers believe there will be no occasion to lower the new prices named this week.

It is becoming patent to all observers that apples, as well as potatoes, will be high this fall. Receipts are much smaller than most years, and as the crop is said to be pretty well in sight, it is certain prices will be no lower and may go much higher than now. From most of the big apple sections reports come of a short crop. The present arrivals are coming mostly from New York, although Pennsylvania is beginning to contribute considerably to the supply. The winter apples in stock are of good quality, but the quantity is very small.

Standard cantaloupes were advanced to $3 50 and $1 00 a crate, and the combination varieties are out of the market. Tokay grapes also moved up 25 cents a crate yesterday. The only new article in the fruit line was Halloween dates, which in 70-pound boxes are sold at 4 and 5 cents a pound.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 36 cars hay, 27 cars oats, 11 cars feed, 2 cars straw, 7 cars corn, 1 car rye. Baltimore & Ohio, 18 cars hay, 7 cars oats, 2 cars corn. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 1 car hay, 3 cars oats, 1 car feed, 1 car rye.

The feature of the grain market yesterday was the larger receipts of feed, which made the market a trifle weak. Corn is still in scant supply and is very firm at prices quoted. Hay is selling well, most of the arrivals being taken up about as soon as they are in. More hay is coming into market and straw is in better supply.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

The East Butte Mining Company has been incorporated with a capital of $2,000,000 divided into 20,000 shares of which 200,000 shares will be issued at the present time.

Negotiations are reported in progress for the construction of a railroad from Acapuico, on the west coast of Mexico, to the smelter of the Mitchell Mining Company, a distance of about 80 miles. It is understood the project will be financed without the use of any treasury stock of the Mitchell company.

Bisbee people have located a lot of ground on the Yaqui river, undetermed by the reports of continued uprisings among the Yaqui Indians. They have returned a distance of about 80 miles. It is understood the project will be financed without the use of any treasury stock of the Mitchell company.

Bisbee people have located a lot of ground on the Yaqui river, undetermed by the reports of continued uprisings among the Yaqui Indians. They have returned from the district with rich samples and stories of finds of gold and copper-silver ores of importance.

Contracts have been let for additional equipment and more wells for the new Naco smelter which the Mitchell Mining Company is backing. This is to be on the American side of the Mexican line, six miles from the Calumet smelter of the company. The Calumet smelter, a mile away and in the same depression of the big valley, has all the water it can use and apparently an abundant supply for future requirements.

At the Tombstone Consolidated mines the work of sinking 200 feet to the 1,000-foot level is progressing rapidly now that it has resumed operations after the enforced shutdown. The hoisting plant is rather small, but is to be replaced by a new one. The shaft is now down 800 feet and is in ore all the way. The ore is of a high grade character, and the management is very confident of striking a big body of ore at the 1,000-foot level.

Checks have been mailed by the Penn-Wyoming Copper Company for the sixth monthly dividend of ½ of 1 per cent.

It is estimated by the engineers in charge that the net profits of the vein known as the Gold Quartz ledge which outcrops for a distance of 5,000 feet and an average height of 40 feet and an average width of 40 feet on the property of the Guanacevi Tunnel Company, Durango, Mexico, so far as proven, will be over $5,000,000.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The London tin market was less excited, but prices were pretty well maintained with spot closing at £148 12s 5d and futures at £148. The local market was quiet but firmly held with spot quoted at $32 25@32 75. Copper was higher abroad, closing at £72 15s for spot and £71 for futures. Locally no change is reported and the market is very quiet. Lake is quoted at $18 37½@18 75; electrolytic at $16 37½@16 62½c and casting at $16 12½@16 37½. Lead remains somewhat irregular in the local market where actual supplies are scarce and each small transaction carries its own price, with the market more or less nominal at $4 60 to $5 00. Lead is still said to be available for forward shipment at $4 85. The foreign market was unchanged with spot quoted at £17 12s 9d. Spelter was higher at £25 10s in London. Locally the market was firm and unchanged at $6 00@6 10. Iron closed at 52s 1d for standard foundry and 54s 11½d for Cleveland warrants in the English market. Locally Iron is reported firm at recent prices. No. 1 foundry northern is held at $17 25@17 75; No. 2 foundry northern at $17 00@17 75, and No. 1 foundry southern at $16 75@17 25.

BOSTON, Oct. 17.—Alloues continued the most active stock today, registering a new high price. Franklin also sold at its highest for a long time. The interest shifted to Monawk and Osceola, both stocks being in good demand. Pool operations in Atlantic seem to have ceased for the present, and the stock is very dull. North Butte still holds a prominent position in the market and makes an excellent trading stock as its fluctuations are wide and quick.

Visible Supply of Grain.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Special cable and telegraphic communications received by Bradstreets show the following changes in available supplies as compared with previous account: Wheat, United States and Canada, east of the Rockies, increased 3,342,000 bushels; afloat for and in Europe, decrease, 1,560,000 bushels. Corn, United States and Canada, east of the Rockies, decrease 588,000 bushels. Oats, United States and Canada, east of the Rockies, increased 2,460,000 bushels. The leading increases reported this week are: Bushels in Chanttolas, 1,550,000 bushels at Chicago private elevators; 155,000 bushels in Lincoln, and vicinity; 50,000 bushels at Minneapolis private elevators, and 50,000 bushels at Goderich, Ont. The stock of oats held at present in the Chicago public and private elevators is the largest on record. The visible supply of grain Saturday, October 14, as compiled by the New York produce exchange is as follows: Wheat, 22,614,000 bushels; increase, 2,558,000 bushels. Corn, 4,432,000 bushels; decrease, 194,000 bushels. Oats, 22,614,000 bushels; increase, 1,693,000. Rye, 1,516,000 bushels; increase, 51,000 bushels. Barley, 562,000 bushels; increase, 264,000 bushels.

The Drygoods Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—The attitude of buyers in the drygoods market today continued to be one of increased conservatism and yet there was general firmness on all lines, brought about largely by the fact that so few goods were available for early delivery. Buyers differed in their views about future buying, but all admitted difficulty of securing goods today.

WHEAT STRENGTHENS ON REPORTS OF FAMINE

December Delivery Goes Up Nearly One Cent—Corn Shows Gain of Half Cent.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 17.—Revived reports of a partial grain famine in Russia were mainly responsible today, for strength in the wheat market here. At the close, wheat for December delivery was up ¾@¾c. Corn shows a gain of ½@¾c. Oats are up ¼@¾c. Corn shows a gain of 1¼@7½c lower.

The wheat market opened firm, with December unchanged to ¼c higher at 87½@88c. Wet weather in the United States imparted some firmness to the situation, but the factor of apparently greatest importance was the cablegram from Odessa to a well-known concern here. The tone of the message was decidedly bullish, the Russian government being active in buying wheat for the relief of the famine sufferers. It was also claimed that shipments from Russia are decreasing. This information seemed to rouse shorts to activity. Throughout the entire day, demand from shorts constituted the chief source of buying orders in the pit. Offerings were comparatively small. Consequently, prices uninterruptedly advanced. Strength of cash wheat at Minneapolis was a factor contributing to the upturn here. For December, the highest point of the day was reached at 88¾c. The market closed strong with December at 88¾@88¾c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 156,500 bushels. The visible supply increased 2,862,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 1,200,000 bushels, compared with 1,229,000 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 998 cars, against 950 cars last week, and 1,158 cars a year ago.

Wet weather in the west was the main reason for firmness in the corn market. Strength of wheat was a factor of lesser importance. Shorts were fairly active buyers throughout the entire session. The market closed strong with prices practically at the highest point. December opened unchanged to ¼c higher, at 44¼@44¾c, sold up to 44¾@44¾c, and closed at 44¾c. Local recipts were 283 cars, with 196 of contract grade.

Decreased receipts and wet weather had a bullish effect on the oats market. A prominent commission house was the chief buyer. December opened a shade higher at 28¾, advanced to 28¾c and closed at the top. Local receipts were 407 cars.

Liquidation of October lard and ribs had a weakening influence on the provisions market. Another bearish factor was the decline of 5c in the price of live hogs. At the close January pork was off 5c at $12 50. Lard was down 5@7½c at $6 52½@6 55. Ribs were 2½c lower, at $6 55.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 12 cars; corn, 122 cars; oats, 375 cars; hogs, 35,000 head.

The leading futures, as reported by John D. Armstrong & Co., Farmers bank building, Pittsburgh, members of the Chicago board of trade, ranged as follows:

BRIDGE MEN ARE IN CONVENTION

Railway People Open Session With Good Attendance—B. & O. Agents Organize.

LAKE ERIE SCHEDULE CHANGE

The Association of Railway Superintendents of Bridges and Buildings began its fifteenth annual convention yesterday at the Monongahela house. The attendance was large and the interest shown is of such a nature as to indicate that each member is taking an active part. The local committee on entertainment has provided for the care of the visitors in an interesting manner outside of the convention hours.

The visitors were welcomed and extended the privileges of the city during their stay by City Solicitor Rodgers. The response for the association was made by J. H. Cummin, a past president of the association, of the Long Island railroad at Jamaica, N. Y.

The afternoon session was taken up with the discussion of two of the most important subjects to come before the convention. The report of the committee on "Construction and Maintenance of Docks and Wharves" was made by the chairman of the committee, H. Rettinghouse, division engineer of the Wisconsin Central railway. The subject was discussed by President C. A. Lichty of the Chicago & Northwestern; Third Vice President R. H. Reid of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern; J. N. Penwell, supervisor of bridges and buildings of the Lake Erie & Western; W. F. Steffens, assistant engineer of the New York Central & Hudson River; R. F. Pickering of the Boston & Maine railroad; A. Montsheimer, chief engineer of the Elgin, Joliet & Eastern railway, and Mr. Cummin.

The other subject was the report of the committee on "Concrete Building Construction, Including Platforms," presented by the committee's chairman, C. W. Richey, master carpenter of the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania. Mr. Richey's paper was highly complimented and broadly commented on by those present. Along with the paper Mr. Richey had a number of photographs and blue prints, which illustrated the points brought out in the paper. This subject was discussed by President Lichty; First Vice President J. B. Hedges of the New York, New Haven & Hartford; W. O. Eggleston of the Erie; J. L. Desmond of the Southern; Mr. Rettinghouse, W. W. Perry of the Burlington; J. P. Canty of the Boston & Maine; Mr. Steffens, W. M. Clark of the Baltimore & Ohio; H. P. Morrill of the Chicago & Northwestern; E. M. Hudson of the St. Louis, Kansas City & Colorado; Mr. Pickering and Mr. Schmidt.

Other important subjects will be in the committee reports on "Protection of Water Tanks and Water Pipes From Action of Frost" and "Preservatives for Wood and Metals." Among other subjects to come before the convention in reports are: Relative value of concrete and timber piles, method of driving piles and derricks, methods of repairing roofs of various kinds, methods of watering stock in transit, recent practice in coffer-dam work, pile and frame trestle bridges, steel bridges, buildings, docks and wharves, water supply, fire protection, fences, crossings and cattle-guards, coaling stations and cinder pits and records and accounts. The election of officers will take place tomorrow morning.

The women who are visiting the city because of the convention were given trolley and automobile rides about the city yesterday afternoon, and in the evening the entire party enjoyed a visit to the Exposition. This morning the women will visit the big department stores and this afternoon the Heinz pickle works. A theater party will be the feature at the Belasco theater this evening.

The convention is about as well represented by the railway supply and material companies as any convention ever held in Pittsburgh. The following firms and representatives were noted: F. W. Bird & Son by D. W. Gordon; the Barrett Manufacturing Company by W. S. Babcock; the Chicago Pneumatic Tube Company by H. S. Hunter; the Philip Cary Manufacturing Company by W. A. Shaitz; the Dixon Crucible Company by D. M. Howe; Paul Dickinson by Mr. Dickinson; the Eastern Granite Roofing Company by H. Henning; Fairbanks, Morse & Co. by George Akers; the Graphite Carbon Paint and Color Company by Thomas R. Davis; the H. W. Johns-Manville Company by R. B. Montgomery; Lowe Brothers Company by Charles Shannon; J. D. McIlwain & Co. by Mr. McIlwain; the National Roofing Company by Thomas B. Lehon; the Otto Gas Engine works by C. C. Lazenby; the Patterson-Sargent Company by M. R. Stowell; the Sherwin-Williams Company by W. B. Albright, and the United States Graphite Company by R. B. Radish.

B. & O. Agents Meet Here.

The first meeting of the Baltimore & Ohio agents of the Pittsburgh division was held yesterday in the offices of Bruce W. Duer, superintendent. Subjects of direct interest to the agents were discussed. This calling of the agents together is distinctive for the Baltimore & Ohio on the Pittsburgh division and has been brought about by Superintendent Duer personally. It is probable that other division superintendents will follow his example and the matter may be taken up by the company for all of the divisions. The object is similar to the agents' association of the Pennsylvania's Pittsburgh division, which holds monthly meetings for the discussion of subjects of particular import to the agency work and for closer and more friendly association. After the morning session the agents took luncheon together at the Monongahela house.

The afternoon session was taken up with addresses and discussions. R. E. Pyle, freight agent in Pittsburgh, presiding. Addresses were made by Superintendent Duer, his chief clerk, O. C. Castle, who has charge of the agency work of the division; Car Distributor A. H. Gribben, and Traveling Auditor J. T. Campbell. W. M. Prall, commissioner of the Pittsburgh Car Service association, also made an address.

Those at the meeting included P. Colligan of Allegheny, R. J. Smith of Junction Transfer, W. B. Peters of McKeesport, L. L. Long of Rankin, J. H. Harkness of Braddock, M. De Vaughn of Washington, W. I. McKee of Butler, O. K. Holverstott of Sharpsburg, and W. F. Dencke of Bessemer.

Will Be Few Changes in Schedule.

It was announced yesterday that there will be few changes of importance in the passenger train service of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad this fall. The change of the New York Central lines is to be made November 5, but it is said that the Lake Erie will not make the change until the Erie time card is put into effect, which will probably be about November 12. It was said that the new trains and during car service installed by the Lake Erie last summer have far surpassed the expectations of the officers. The Buffalo and Pittsburgh flyers, which make the time between the two cities in six hours, have become popular trains. Some new things in railway equipment are promised for the winter. General Passenger Agent L. A. Robinson usually has something good to offer, and this fall will be no exception.

Invention to Prevent Collisions.

Milan Nikolic, a South Side resident, has just secured a patent on a safety device for train operations. The device consists of an automatic spring arrangement that runs in a third or middle rail at an optional distance ahead of the locomotive, preferably about 700 yards. A bell on the front of the device is kept ringing to warn pedestrians. Should an obstruction in the track be met the device warns the engineman and fireman, so that the train may be stopped before the obstruction is reached.

Railroad Notes.

W. V. Blackstone, assistant chief clerk in the office of Superintendent Duer of the Baltimore & Ohio, is taking a vacation of 10 days.

L. H. Turner, superintendent of motive power of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, has gone to New York to attend a meeting of the motive power men of the New York Central lines.

W. E. Perry, assistant chief clerk to the general manger of the Pennsylvania lines west, has resumed his duties after a vacation which included a delightful sea trip with Mrs. Perry, from Baltimore to Boston.

E. F. Wendt, assistant engineer of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, returned from New York, where he presided at a meeting of the committee on records, reports and accounts of the American Railway Engineering and Maintenance of Way association.

It is reported from Chicago that James J. Hill has secured control of the Chicago Terminal Transfer railway and that the Burlington operations into that city will be changed from the Union station to the Grand Central station, which is used by the Baltimore & Ohio and three other roads.

President Oscar G. Murray, Third Vice President G. L. Potter, Chief Engineer D. D. Carothers, General Manager Thomas Fitzgerald and Chief Engineer Maintenance of Way J. B. Dickson of Baltimore left for a day trip over the Baltimore & Ohio to Chicago yesterday morning, the local officers accompanying them over the local division system.

AFTER STAMP COMPANIES.

Anti-Stamp Protective Association Arranging to Hold Meeting in Allegheny.

Concerted efforts will be made at a meeting of the United Retailers' Anti-Stamp Protective association to be held this evening in Kenyon hall, Federal street, Allegheny, to abolish the stamp and other petty annoyances to the trade. The stamp feature will be discussed and acted upon at the meeting.

Since the association was formed three weeks ago 150 members have enrolled in the anti-stamp crusade. Meat and grocery dealers declare the petty annoyance they have been subjected to through the stamp companies and others have become a burden and has been carried too long.

TWO EXTREMES IN THE REALTY MARKET

Unprecedented Dullness on the Outside and Important Transactions Concealed.

INGRAM GETS NEW STREETS

It is very seldom indeed that two extremes in the realty market are so well marked as at present. On the one hand the record of the past two days, as judged by the number of transactions that have been published, is a remarkable one hardly to be equaled in the records of real estate dealing in Pittsburgh in the last four years, not excepting the dull midsummer days. On the other hand, the importance of deals that are closed or practically consummated, and which for certain reasons are being withheld from publicity, is such as to justify the assertion that the week may close with some of the most interesting announcements made for months. At no time for years have brokers all over the city reported such difficulty in getting sales closed finally, and the utmost caution is being observed in the deals that are "on" now. Full announcement should be made today of a deal that will total in the neighborhood of $600,000 and another sale of $300,000 is very near the publicity point. A suburban deal has been agreed to that means a building project that will total at least $160,000, the deal itself amounting to over $30,000. If a deal now being worked in the interest of one of Pittsburgh's most powerful corporations, which will no doubt mean the erection of another skyscraper, goes through, it will set the gossips wild with surmises as to the probable effect on realty values in that vicinity, for the location is one that for various reasons is extremely desirable for business purposes. Peculiar and disappointing is the general opinion of the market at present, and until some of the many deals that are pending come to light there is not likely to be much enthusiasm among buyers.

New Streets for Ingram.

At a meeting of the Ingram borough council Monday night it was voted to widen Prospect avenue to a 50-foot street between Bridge and Berry streets, a distance of four squares. The street is already graded, and the work of paving will be started soon. Mackin avenue, a 50-foot street, is now being graded and paved from Prospect avenue to Melrose avenue, and Werner avenue is being graded between the same two streets. These improvements will give to the borough three more main business and residence streets, and as they are being built up rapidly, the value of surrounding property is sure to be enhanced. Not only in Ingram, but in Crafton and Thornburg, which are also in the district commonly known as Crafton valley, there is more building in evidence than in any other section around Pittsburgh. In Ingram alone about 40 houses are in course of erection, and over 100 new buildings can be counted going up in the valley. Many of these will be finished from the fact that dozens of cars of building and street material have stood on the Panhandle tracks at Crafton and Carnegie for weeks this fall, and until the new freight yards were made ready it was impossible to keep the tracks clear of this freight.

Three More North Negley Houses.

The estate of Alexander King has sold three more fine residence sites in the North Negley district. The buyers are R. M. Totten, E. F. Guthrie and B. D. Hileman, each of whom secures 50x147.5 feet on the southeast side of Bryant street, near North Negley avenue. The price was $95 a front foot, which makes the lots cost $14,250, or $4,750 each. Ground will be broken Monday for three colonial brick houses of 10 rooms which will cost from $10,000 to $12,000 each. This makes a total of more than 20 houses under way or for which plans have been drawn to be erected in the North Negley district within a radius of two squares. Of these the $35,000 residence of J. G. Vilsack is under way, and two other houses, costing over $20,000 each, will be started in a short time within a stone's throw of it.

Two more houses to cost at least $8,000 each are also assured for the Linden avenue district. The sites are two lots, 50x150 feet each, in the Wycoff & Lindsey plan on the west side of Linden avenue, near Fair Oaks street, which have been bought by two prominent East End business men for $119 a front foot, or $5,500 each. The sites adjoin the new residence of Norman Woolridge at Linden and Fair Oaks.

THE THREE RIVERS

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

The stage of water at Davis Island dam at 9 o'clock last night was 4.3 feet, and the river was rising.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 17.—At 6 p. m. the Ohio river was 7.5 feet and rising. The members of the Ohio Valley Improvement association, and those merchants who have the best interests of the Ohio at heart, are enthusiastic over the coming convention. The movement on the part of the citizens of Louisville to maintain their prestige in the Kentucky river trade by the purchase of the packet Falls City, has not put a damper on the efforts of the merchants of Cincinnati and the vicinity who are interested in the movement. The truth of the matter is the merchants of Louisville are worsted to the extent of $2,000, according to the reports sent out from that city. The Cincinnati business men's club took an option on the boat for $10,000. The Louisville people paid $12,000 according to reports. Warm and pleasant.

WARREN—River 1 foot and falling. Clear and warm.

GREENSBORO—River 6 feet 6 inches and stationary. Fair and warmer. Woodward down Wednesday, Columbia up.

OIL CITY—River 1 foot 6 inches and falling. Clear and pleasant.

MARIETTA—River 5.6 feet and rising. Cloudy, warm. Bessie Smith up, noon. Valley Belle down, 9 a. m. Up with empties: H. M. Hoxie, Tom Dodsworth, Valiant, Crescent and Coal City.

POINT PLEASANT—River 4 feet 5 inches and rising. Partly cloudy. Down: Transit, Greenland.

LOUISVILLE—River falling; in canal, 3.4 feet; on falls, 1.2 feet; below locks, 8.2 feet. Partly cloudy.

PARKERSBURG—River 6.7 feet and rising. Clear and warm. The Bessie Smith left for Wheeling, the Valley Belle for Middleport, and the French for Creston.

STEUBENVILLE—River 5 feet 5 inches and falling. Clear and warm. Down: Robert Taylor.

WHEELING—River 6 feet and falling. Cloudy and cool. Departed: H. K. Bedford, Parkersburg, 11 a. m.; Jewel, Newport, 11 a. m. Up with empties: Valiant, 5:30 p. m.

GALLIPOLIS—River 6 feet and rising. Clear and pleasant.

MORGANTOWN—River 8 feet 4 inches and falling. Clear.

INSPECTORS ARE BUSY.

Pilots Are Notified of Signal Shift at Neel Landing.

With Maj. W. L. Sibert, government representative in this vicinity, the five United States engineers who were sent here from Washington to make an inspection of the local rivers, had a conference yesterday morning in the Federal building. Maj. Sibert announced that at present nothing will be said of the work being done here, as much more has to be accomplished before any definite conclusion is reached. The engineers, after cruising about the local pool in the Loma on Monday, went to Beaver, and made a stop at the Vanport dam. They are looking over all the river improvements and what recommendations they will make when their tour is finished will not be made public for some time.

The rivers are falling rapidly and the towboats that started for Pittsburgh from points down the Ohio will have to tie up until another rise comes. The Exporter left Steubenville Monday night and will come up as far as possible. The Joe Walton and the Iron Age are at Sewickley, having come up from Marietta.

The I. C. Woodward of the Pittsburgh and Morgantown packet line was delayed yesterday by the fog on the Monongahela and was several hours late in getting to the wharf.

Inspector A. P. Osborn of the Fourteenth Light-house district yesterday sent from his office at Cincinnati a warning to all masters and pilots that the lights at Neel landing will or soon will be moved to range with the down-stream channel. The change is made necessary by railroad alterations. An exact description will be furnished later.

Kirby Knows His Own Ward.

Harry Rose and John Jones will know better than to try to claim the Ninth ward as their place of dwelling if they ever get before Magistrate Kirby again. Kirby's ward is the Ninth and he knows almost every resident in it. Rose was arrested for trying to sell a "phony" diamond ring and Jones was charged with drunkenness. After the magistrate tripped them up by asking questions about the ward, he fined Rose $50 and Jones $5.

New Wells Come in Light and Within Defined Limits

Developments in the Lower Southwest fields are still lagging, and contain little of general interest to the trade. Nearly all of the wells completed are inside of defined limits and are of no consequence to any except those directly interested in a financial way. The late completions show a considerable percentage of dusters. In the Garner district, Marshall county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its second test on the W. E. McIlvaine farm through the Gordon sand, and has a duster. The first test on this farm came in a good producer. In the Wick district, Tyler county, the Melrose Oil and Gas Company has drilled its No. 1 on the T. H. Ewell farm 40 feet into the Big Injun and has not found the pay. It should have been reached at 27 feet in the sand, and failing to do so, makes it look like a duster. In the Sedalia district, Doddridge county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has completed its test on the A. W. Estinck farm, and has a fair gasser in the Gordon. In the Pine Grove extension, Wetzel county, the South Penn has completed its No. 3 on the T. J. Pentalwait farm, and has a very light pumper. In the Berea district, Ritchie county, Trees & Co. have drilled their test on the Nichols farm through the Berea grit, and have a duster. In the Petroleum district, in the same county, C. F. Pontious has completed No. 8 on the West Virginia oil tract, and has a duster in the Berea grit and all of the Gordon sand.

In the Wellsburg pool, Brook county, Bozman & Co. have completed their test on the Schwertfeger farm and have a show for a 25-barrel producer in the Berea grit. This well is slightly in advance of developments and on the narrow streak to the northeast. In the same district, Jefferson county, No. 4 on the Sabina Lewis farm is holding up at 100 barrels a day. In the river front district, Wood county, the Worthington Oil Company has completed a test on the I. Y. Smith farm and has a show for a very light pumper. In the Salem district, Harrison county, the South Penn's No. 2 on the Lloyd Randolph farm has slumped in production and is now producing 60 barrels a day. The South Penn's test on the J. W. Edgell farm is producing but 15 barrels a day.

On the Ohio side, in the Wolf Creek district, Washington county, the Pure Oil Producing Company has completed No. 15 on the Henry L. Pugh farm, and has a show for a 15 or 20-barrel producer in the shallow sand. In the same district, the Zumbro Oil Company has drilled in a test on the J. H. Zumbro farm and has a show for a producer. In the Mackeburg district, in the same county, E. Sloan has completed No. 19 on the P. H. Boye farm and has a duster in the 800-foot sand. It will be abandoned.

At Bulgitwood, Allegheny county, Pa., M. Finnegan & Co. have drilled their second test on the Theresa Grimes farm through all sands and found no oil. It will make a light gasser in the fifth sand.

STRIKERS RETURN TO WORK.

Miners of the Penn Gas Coal Company Are Satisfied by Operators' Statement.

IRWIN, PA., Oct. 17.—(Special.)—The striking miners at the Yough shaft of the Penn Gas Coal Company this afternoon held a meeting at which their grievance in regard to the company refusing to haul them to the surface after their day's work was discussed. It was shown that running the cage for this purpose while coal had to be hauled out for loading seriously handicapped the daily output, which affected the men as well as the company.

The operators stated that they would take the men out as early after they quit work as it was possible. This seemed to satisfy them, as they agreed to return to work tomorrow morning.

Mother and Five Children Perish.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Alice Hartman and her five children were burned to death and their home was destroyed by fire at Royal, a village in Franklin county.

ADVISES THE USE OF

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS

Marcus R. Mayer, the man who has given American theatergoers some of their greatest treats, who brought to the United States and managed the American tours of Signor Salvini, Mme. Patti, Olga Nethersole, Eleanora Duse, Mary Anderson, M. Coquelin and other famous foreign actors, singers and musicians, writes us the following letter, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills:

Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Gentlemen: I wish as many suffering men and women as I can reach through you to know the excellence of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was greatly benefited by the use of the remedy, and would state that I have known several persons to have been cured by the same agency who had kidney trouble so badly that their complexion was pale and waxlike in appearance, who were agonized with pain in the back, the head and across the loins; had frequent attacks of rheumatism and much urinary trouble. I am always glad to recommend such a deserving remedy.

Yours truly,

(Signed) MARCUS R. MAYER.

It soothes, heals and stimulates sick kidneys, ensures constant purification of the blood in the kidneys, drives out all uric poisons and cures permanently.

Pittsburgh Testimony

Charles L. Close, retired manufacturer, living at 217 Auburn street, Twenty-first ward, says: "I have only the highest praise for Doan's Kidney Pills. It is for backache and urinary trouble that I used them, and I have good reasons for saying they are all right. Before I used Doan's Kidney Pills a doctor told me that I had a bad case of kidney trouble. Doan's Kidney Pills relieved me promptly and I have been using them occasionally since. Run for the Doctor

Some people think it necessary to do so on the slightest occasion—Other people and a great many of them, who are much wiser, very seldom have to call a doctor.

Why?

Because they always have at hand, ready in case of sudden sickness or accident, a bottle of Hamlins Wizard Oil—the best and most reliable substitute for the family doctor, and one that very often makes his presence entirely unnecessary—Wizard Oil relieves immediately, and cures all pain from whatsoever cause. Price, 50c. and $1.00.

Going to Bed Hungry.

It Is All Wrong and Man Is the Only Creature That Does It.

The complete emptiness of the stomach during sleep adds greatly to the amount of emaciation, sleeplessness and general weakness so often met with. There is a perpetual change of tissues in the body, sleeping or waking, and the supply of nourishment ought to be somewhat continuous and food taken just before retiring, adds much more tissue that is destroyed, and increased weight and vigor is the result. Dr. W. T. Cathell says: "All animals except man eat before sleep and there is no reason in Nature why man should form the exception to the rule."

If people who are thin, nervous and sleepless would take a light lunch of bread and milk or oatmeal and cream and at the same time take a safe, harmless stomach remedy like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in order to aid the stomach in digesting it, the result will be a surprising increase in weight, strength and general vigor. The only drawback has been that thin, nervous, dyspeptic people cannot digest and assimilate wholesome food at night or any other time. For such it is absolutely necessary to use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they will digest the food, no matter how weak the stomach may be, nourishing the body and resting the stomach at the same time.

Dr. Stevenson says: "I depend almost entirely upon Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets in treating indigestion, because it is not a quack nostrum, and I know just what they contain, a combination of vegetable essences, pure pepsin. They cure Dyspepsia and stomach troubles, because they can't help but cure." Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package. They are in lozenge form, pleasant to take, and contain nothing but pure pepsin, vegetable essences and bismuth scientifically compounded. Your druggist will tell you they give universal satisfaction.
